Between Ourselves Secondperson Approaches To The Study Of Consciousness:

Cultivating Perfection Louis Komjathy, 2007 Employing a comparative religious studies approach this book provides a comprehensive discussion of early Quanzhen as a Daoist religious movement characterized by asceticism alchemical transformation and mystical experiencing Emphasis is placed on the complex interplay among views of self religious praxis and religious experience Grassroots Spirituality Robert K. C. Forman, 2004 Description and discussion of recent growth in popular and unofficial spiritual movements especially in North America Francisco J. Varela 1946-2001 Jeanette Bopry, Soren Brier, 2004 A volume dedicated to the life and work of Francisco Varela this is an issue of the journal Cybernetics and Human Knowing The Contemplative Foundations of Classical Daoism Harold D. Roth, 2021-05-01 In The Contemplative Foundations of Classical Daoism Harold D Roth explores the origins and nature of the Daoist tradition arguing that its creators and innovators were not abstract philosophers but rather mystics engaged in self exploration and self cultivation which in turn provided the insights embodied in such famed works as the Daodejing and Zhuangzi In this compilation of essays and chapters representing nearly thirty years of scholarship Roth examines the historical and intellectual origins of Daoism and demonstrates how this distinctive philosophy emerged directly from practices that were essentially contemplative in nature In the first part of the book Roth applies text critical methods to derive the hidden contemplative dimensions of classical Daoism In the second part he applies a contemplative hermeneutic to explore the relationship between contemplative practices and classical Daoist philosophy and in so doing brings early Daoist writings into conversation with contemporary contemplative studies To this he adds an introduction in which he reflects on the arc and influence on the field of early Chinese thought of this rich vein of scholarship and an afterword in which he applies both interpretive methods to the vexing question of the authorship of the Inner Chapters of the Zhuangzi The Contemplative Foundations of Classical Daoism brings to fruition the cumulative investigations and observations of a leading figure in the emerging field of contemplative studies as they pertain to a core component of early Chinese thought The Body, Embodiment, and Education Steven A. Stolz, 2021-09-28 Notions of the body and embodiment have become prominent across a number of established discipline areas like philosophy sociology and psychology While there has been a paradigmatic shift towards this topic there is a notable gap in the literature as it relates to education and educational research The Body Embodiment and Education addresses the gap between embodiment and education by exploring conceptualisations of the body and embodiment from interdisciplinary perspectives With contributions from international experts in philosophy sociology and psychology as well as emerging areas in related fields such as embodied cognition neuroscience cognitive science this book sets a new research agenda in education and educational research Each chapter makes a case for expanding the field and adds to the call for further exploration The Body Embodiment and Education will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students who are interested in the body and embodiment and or its relationship with education or educational research Between Ourselves Evan Thompson,2001 Second person I You relations are central to human life yet have been neglected in consciousness research This book puts that right and goes further by also including descriptions of animal person to person interactions Having a Word with Angus Graham Carine Defoort,Roger T. Ames,2018-03-01 Critical reflections on the work of Angus Charles Graham renowned Western scholar of Chinese philosophy and sinology This volume engages with the works and ideas of Angus Charles Graham 1919 1991 one of the most prominent Western scholars of Chinese philosophy at the twenty fifth anniversary of his passing Over a professional career of more than thirty years Angus Graham produced an impressive amount of scholarship on a wide array of topics ranging from Chinese grammar and philology to poetry and philosophy His combination of rigorous scholarship and philosophical originality has continued to inspire scholars to tackle related research topics and in so doing has required of them a response to his views This book illustrates the range of scholarship still elaborating upon disagreeing with and reacting to Graham s work on Chinese thought philosophy philology and translation How Could Conscious Experiences Affect Brains? Max Velmans,2002 In daily life we take it for granted that our minds have conscious control of our actions at least for most of the time But many scientists and philosophers deny that this is really the case because there is no generally accepted theory of how the mind interacts with the body Max Velmans presents a non reductive solution to the problem in which conscious mental control includes voluntary operations of the preconscious mind On this account biological determinism is compatible with experienced free will Velmans theory is put to the test by nine critics Ron Chrisley Todd Feinberg Jeffrey Gray John Kihlstrom Sam Rakover Ramakrishna Rao Aaron Sloman Steve Torrance and Robert Van Gulick Philosophical Perspectives on Qualitative Psychological and Social Science Research Paul M. W. Hackett,Gillie Gabay,Christopher Hayre,2023-10-25 Σημειωτική ,2002 Theoria Et Historia Scientiarum ,2003 The Problem of Consciousness Evan Thompson,2003 Contributors to the latest Canadian Journal of Philosophy Supplementary Volume The Problem of Consciousness make connections regarding what is consciousness and how it is related to the natural world The essays in this volume address this question from the perspective of phenomenological philosophy of mind a new trend that integrates phenomenology analytic philosophy and cognitive science The guiding principle of this new thinking is that precise and detailed phenomenological accounts of subjective experience are needed if significant progress is to be made in understanding consciousness and its place in the natural world From this standpoint the essays collected here explore a variety of nuances concerning consciousness including time consciousness perception schizophrenia empathy and intersubjectivity Also addressed are fascinating methodological issues about the relationship between phenomenology and other approaches to understanding the mind in science and philosophy Nebraska Symposium on Motivation, Volume 52 Nebraska Symposium,2007-10-01 Capturing the complexity of human behavior has been a recurring theme in the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation The contributors to this volume describe contemporary approaches to the modeling of complex cognitive and behavioral processes ranging from molecular to molar phenomena Although the essays reflect a wide range of theoretical and epistemic perspectives they all incorporate complex frameworks of dynamic systemlike relationships involving perception learning concept formation emotion motivation intention behavior and the social context in which behavior occurs The editors introduce the volume with a survey of the lifetime of the symposium showing the development of ideas about behavioral and psychological complexity for over fifty years A special feature of this collection is its emphasis on practical applications of the conceptual frameworks in which they work The contributors provide examples of translational research ranging from clinical neuropsychology to self actualization from medical informatics to industrial psychology from programmed learning to psychiatric rehabilitation

Science, Religion, and the Human Experience James D. Proctor, 2005-04-21 This collection of essays looks at the relationship between science and religion The book begins from the premise that both science and religion operate in yet seek to reach beyond specific historical political ideological and psychological contexts

Modeling Complex Systems John William Shuart, William Delbert Spaulding, Jeffrey Stephen Poland, 2007 Capturing the complexity of human behavior has been a recurring theme in the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation The contributors to this volume describe contemporary approaches to the modeling of complex cognitive and behavioral processes ranging from molecular to molar phenomena Although the essays reflect a wide range of theoretical and epistemic perspectives they all incorporate complex frameworks of dynamic systemlike relationships involving perception learning concept formation emotion motivation intention behavior and the social context in which behavior occurs The editors introduce the volume with a survey of the lifetime of the symposium showing the development of ideas about behavioral and psychological complexity for over fifty years A special feature of this collection is its emphasis on practical applications of the conceptual frameworks in which they work The contributors provide examples of translational research ranging from clinical neuropsychology to self actualization from medical informatics to industrial psychology from programmed learning to psychiatric rehabilitation
