

What is the difference?

Humans vs. animals

Humans have long considered themselves truly unique. But it turns out that the better word from "unique" is "most advanced". Every year scientists prove that some purely human traits are found in animals.

Clerk's nutcrackers remember for at least half year where they put seeds - and they use 1 thousand caches in a 15-mile area.

Chimpanzees have similar face, arithmetic mental, non-verbal skills (adding up) as humans.

Some use stones to crack eggs, sometimes combining an egg with a bigger stone and hitting it with a smaller one.

Apes in the wild have been recorded to hunt tiger cubs by pulling their ears, tails and putting them - and escaping later, only to return and do it again.

Although chimpanzees can't really communicate verbally, they can do it through sign language.

Elephants feel and want to be hugged from members, showing empathy.

All great apes, dolphins, elephants and magpies recognize their reflection in the mirror. If they see anything unusual they try to rub it (remove it).

All dolphins, which were recovering from an illness in 2000, which were recovering from an illness in 2000, learned to talk walk only from dolphins living in captivity, without human trainers.
