Hans Janssen, Michael White

De Stijl:

De Stijl and Dutch Modernism Michael White, 2003-09-20 The name De Stijl title of a magazine founded in the Netherlands in 1917 is now used to identify the abstract art and functional architecture of its major contributors Mondrian Van Doesburg Van der Leek Oud Wils and Rietveld De Stijl achieved international acclaim by the end of the 1920s and its paintings buildings and furniture made fundamental contributions to the modern movement This book is the first to emphasize the local context of De Stijl and explore its relationship to the distinctive character of Dutch modernism It examines how the debates concerning abstraction in painting and spatiality in architecture were intimately connected to contemporary developments in the fields of urban planning advertising interior design and exhibition design The book describes the interaction between the world of mass culture and the fine arts De Stijl Paul Overy, 1969 De Stijl The Style was the name given to the work of the architects designers and artists associated with the magazine of the same title edited by Theo van Doesburg and founded in Holland in 1917 De Stijl was international in its outlook in contact with the Bauhaus and the Russian Constructivists it helped create the ideology and formal language of modernism This survey illuminates the works of Mondrian and the architecture and designs of Oud Wils Huszar and Rietveld all of whom aimed to create an objective art concerned with universal values expressed in primary geometric forms and pure colors 157 illus 17 in color

Interior Design Innovators 1910-1960 Cherie Fehrman, Kenneth Fehrman, 2009-10 A scholarly review of the prominent designers and designs from 1910 1960 covering the Organic Design Movement methods and materials of construction and in depth measurements with hundreds of archival photographs De Stijl, 1917-1931 Hans Ludwig C. Jaffé, 1986 Here is the essential book on De Stijl one of the longest lived and most influential of modern art movements H L C Jaffé recounts the history of this abstract movement explains its artistic goals and practice delineates its utopian ideology and describes the special qualities of De Stijl painting sculpture architecture and design Jaffé charts the evolution of the movement from its beginning in 1917 with the founding of the journal De Stijl He locates the philosophical origins of the artistic program which put aside representation of nature and confined itself to pure forms of expression vertical and horizontal lines and the primary colors yellow blue red against white black and gray He describes the roles of Ban Doesburg De Stijl s driving force and Mondrian its leading exponent the application of its principles to design and architecture and the involvement of sculptors Arp and Brancusi He places De Stijl in relation to other abstract arts and demonstrates its wide range of influence Throughout Jaffé quotes extensively from the writings of the De Stijl group allowing the artists themselves to describe their aims and methods a complete forty page pamphlet by Mondrian Art and Life 1931 is appended Painting as Model Yve-Alain Bois, 1993-05-04 Informed by both structuralism and poststructuralism these essays by art critic and historian Yve Alain Bois seek to redefine the status of theory in modernist critical discourse Warning against the uncritical adoption of theoretical fashions and equally against the a priori rejection of all theory Bois argues that theory is best employed in response to the specific demands of a critical problem The essays lucidly demonstrate the uses of various theoretical approaches in conjunction with close reading of both paintings and texts

Mondrian Carel Blotkamp,2001 An analysis of the interrelation between the abstract artist Mondrian s paintings and his theories on art and life as expressed in his public writings and largely unpublished letters Mondrian appears not as an isolated figure but as an artist who took a keen interest in the world around him

The Story of De Stijl Hans Janssen,Michael White,2011-12-01 What was De Stijl This fascinating survey the most comprehensive book to be published on the subject seeks to unravel that question and to consider how the theory of De Stijl Dutch for The Style matched its actual practice There are various answers De Stijl was a magazine De Stijl was an art movement and De Stijl was an idea a world view and an approach to life And from the 1930s onwards De Stijl was recognized internationally as the most important contribution to modern culture made by The Netherlands It is associated with such instantly recognizable objects as the radical geometric abstract paintings of Piet Mondrian with their perpendicular relationships and primary colors the dynamic architectural drawings of Theo van Doesburg which explode the conventional box like structure of a building and show it as interpenetrating spaces unfolding in time and the experimental furniture of Gerrit Rietveld who took the most familiar of objects the armchair and reconfigured it as a series of self supporting planks and struts In each case the artists architects and designers seem to have had a common aspiration to work together to forge a new cultural consensus and style for the modern age In The Story of De Stijl which draws extensively on original sources the authors challenge the understanding of De Stijl as a coherent movement presenting a series of scenes focused on crucial turning points in the history of De Stijl and bringing to the foreground the key relationships and interactions that brought De Stijl to life It is profusely illustrated with a range of images many previously unseen from artworks and buildings to photographs letters and documents that along with anecdotes articles and even footnotes combine to convey the texture of the world De Stijl emerged from This accessible yet authoritative account is set to become the standard reference work on an important and fascinating modern movement

Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Architecture R. Stephen Sennott,2004 A balance of sophistication and clarity in the writing authoritative entries and strong cross referencing that links architects and structures to entries on the history and theory of the profession make this an especially useful source on a century of the world s most notable architecture The contents feature major architects firms and professional issues buildings styles and sites the architecture of cities and countries critics and historians construction materials and planning topics schools movements and stylistic and theoretical terms Entries include well selected bibliographies and illustrations Reference that rocks American Libraries May 2005

P Oud Piet Mondrian Rovert van t Hoff and Georges Vantongerloo The loose knit group took its name from the avant garde journal they first published in October 1917 De Stijl The Style Although it was limited to Holland De Stijl promoted ideas about a universal art combining tenets of theosophy an holistic view of the oneness of all things including arts and culture and socialism This bibliography examines publications that deal with the movement and with affiliated groups and individual members Art historians and scholars of modern and of Dutch art and architecture will appreciate this comprehensive tool for further research Within individual sections for the movement and for its members entries are chronologically arranged with separate categories for books monographs and catalogs and periodicals A final section analyzes and presents the contents of the journal De Stijl
