Crisis Patient Prioritisation and the Law: The Pandemic Experience Massimo Foglia, Tomáš Holcapek, Martin Šolc, Petr Šustek, 2024-09-20 The allocation of scarce health resources remains a persistent and critical challenge for global health systems The Covid 19 pandemic brought this issue to the forefront on an unprecedented scale testing even the most robust health systems of industrialised nations Depletion of resources particularly in intensive care units forced daily triage decisions Each country facing its unique circumstances had to devise its own solution to the sudden calamity While universal principles applied the book presents eleven comprehensive national reports from Europe North and South America and Africa These reports are structured to facilitate a nuanced comparison of individual strategies as well as overarching systematic differences In addition to the national perspectives the book includes a dedicated theoretical chapter analysing the legal ethic foundations and limits of crisis patient prioritisation As the urgency of the Covid 19 pandemic wanes in the public eye and among stakeholders there is a concerning lack of willingness to extract vital lessons for future crises Nevertheless neglecting the insights gained from the events of 2020 and 2021 would be a grave error The book aspires to preserve the lessons of the pandemic offering valuable insights to those who seek better preparation for potential future crises

Deadly Discrimination Zhibo Tan, 2021 We examine an indirect but potentially deadly consequence of the missing girls phenomenon A shortage of brides causes many parents with sons of marriageable age to work harder and seek higher paying but potentially dangerous jobs In response employers invest less in workplace safety which in turn increases work related mortality Drawing from a broad range of data sets and taking advantage of large regional and temporal variations in sex ratios in China we demonstrate that in areas with a more severe shortage of young women the parents with unmarried sons suffer a significantly higher incidence of accidental injuries and workplace deaths
