

10 Tips For New Dads

1) When the going gets tough, take a break. There will be moments when the world conspires to make dads mad: When you haven't slept the baby is crying the phone is ringing, the milk is boiling over, and your partner is cranky. Turn off the stove, go outside, and take as many deep breaths as you need before reentering the fray.

2) Make time with your family a priority. When you look back on your life years from now, you won't regret not having worked longer hours. What you might regret is not having spent more time with your kid. Time spent playing on the floor or watching your baby sleep is time well spent. Enjoy this great excuse to hang around and do nothing.

3) Play a lot. Nothing is better than fun for dissipating tension and for forging trust and good relationships with the baby.

4) Take advantage of your baby's portability. Don't be afraid to take your baby out with you. It's easier to take them out before they become mobile.

5) Be extra patient, supportive, and communicative with your partner. Giving birth can be traumatic, and hormones continue to ebb and flow after childbirth. If there is ever a time to be understanding of your baby's mom and available to her, too, this is it.

6) Try not to schedule too many things in one day. Everything takes longer with a baby involved.

7) If you have medical questions about your baby, call your pediatrician, but don't panic. Babies are more sturdy than they look.

8) Talking to other new fathers about your experience and theirs. Mothers' groups abound and women love them. You don't need to call it a men's group and you don't have to hug. Call it your guys' night out.

9) Taking care of yourself. Keep an eye on your driving, your diet, and your risk-taking. Your baby needs you for a long time. Being healthy and happy dad is one of the greatest gifts you can give your kids.

10) Following your instincts and intuition. Listen to the advice from others, read about parenting, consult the experts, but consider yourself the authority on your child. No one will know your baby as well as you and your partner do.
