A Doctor At War:

In the Front Line Alec Glen, 2013-08-15 This memoir by a Scottish doctor who was born and went on to work in Govan was found among family papers long after his death in 1972. Less an account of the author's inner life, it is a graphic narrative by a practitioner in the hospitals and homes of a major city of hands on medical care during much of the twentieth century. After training as a medical student on the wards of Glasgow hospitals at the outbreak of the First World War, the young doctor joined the army and served as a medical officer for the duration. Early on, he provides a shattering account of the hopeless slaughter at Gallipoli where he survived almost certain death many times as his companions fell around him. Only 100 men survived of his battalion of 1,000. His later service in the Middle East and Mesopotamia is an astonishing tale of courage and endurance interwoven with spells of leave during which the Scot encountered exotic experiences undreamed of in Govan. After the war, Glen became a GP in Govan, one of the poorest areas in Britain at a time long before the National Health Service. Preventable illnesses were often a death sentence for old and young alike. The extremes of poverty and suffering he witnessed brought home to him that he was in the front line once more, but in a different kind of warfare. The Second World War brought new challenges and a post-war transformation when the NHS was finally born. Glen's shrewd commentary on the birth pangs of the new institution provides valuable insights for the ongoing debate about this most controversial of public services.

A Doctor's War Arthur L. Ludwick, Jr., M.D., Peggy Ludwick, 2022-09-26 A medical officer in the 34th Red Bull Infantry Division on the front lines of World War II, Lt Col Maj Arthur L. Ludwick Jr. was responsible for the well-being of traumatized and wounded American soldiers through some of the bloodiest engagements in North Africa and Italy: Kasserine and Fondouk Passes, Hill 609, Monte Pantano, Cassino, and Anzio. He was awarded both the Purple Heart and Silver Star, unusual combat commendations for an unarmed medical officer. His letters home detail his experiences with keen observations of the people and landscapes. Based on Ludwick's letters and an archive of interviews, military documents, and photos, this multifaceted narrative compiled by his daughter also tells the story of her discovery of her father as the young man she never knew.

A Doctor's War Aidan MacCarthy, 2006-05-19 An engrossing memoir of a Royal Air Force doctor's World War II experiences from surviving Dunkirk to witnessing Nagasaki. The Irish Times: As an RAF medical officer, Aidan MacCarthy served in France, survived Dunkirk, and was interned by the Japanese in Java where his ingenuity helped his fellow prisoners through awful conditions. While en route to Japan in 1944, his ship was torpedoed, sending him into the Pacific. Miraculously, MacCarthy was rescued by a whaling boat, only to be re-interned in Japan. Ironically, it was the dropping of the atomic bomb at Nagasaki that saved his life, though it also meant being an eyewitness to the horror and devastation it caused. Long out of print, this remarkable war memoir was rediscovered during a journey through Ireland by Pete McCarthy, author of McCarthy's Bar, who describes it as jaw-dropping. Written in a straightforward, matter-of-fact tone, this book is marked by the author's ability to keep cool under adversity and by his admirable sense of humor and irony A wonderful if chilling work Publishers Weekly A gripping read Evening Echo
