On the Grammar of Optative Constructions Patrick Georg Grosz, 2012 The primary aim of this dissertation is to present an analysis for so called optative constructions clauses that express a wish hope or desire without containing a lexical item that means wish hope or desire A secondary aim is to contrast optative constructions with so called polar exclamatives clauses that express surprise shock or dismay at a given fact without containing a lexical item that means surprise shock or dismay The goal is to better understand the way in which syntax semantics and pragmatics interact in order to yield the meanings and uses that these constructions have The core claim is that we can understand optative constructions by virtue of exploring three properties that they share First I argue that optatives and polar exclamatives contain a generalized exclamation operator EX which serves to express an emotion towards the status of the modified proposition on a contextually provided scale Second I argue that semantic mood including factivity and counterfactuality is encoded in a distinguished Mood head the content of which co determines both morphological mood and the material that overtly surfaces in the position of C Third I argue for a generalized analysis of prototypical particles including non exclusive ONLY concessive AT LEAST and unstressed DOCH My analysis treats these particles as truth conditionally vacuous presupposition triggers which interact with optativity in three different ways First they convey additional information with respect to the modified proposition Second they eliminate alternative readings for an ambiguous clause due to incompatibility Third this disambiguating role makes them ideal licensors for a marked utterance type Chapter 1 of this dissertation is an introductory chapter that presents the core proposal in a nutshell After this coarse overview chapter 2 reviews some basic definitions and background on optatives and polar exclamatives Subsequently I proceed to a presentation of my entire system in chapter 3 The following chapters discuss each of the three core parts in turn starting with the EX operator in chapter 4 followed by semantic mood in chapter 5 and finally I discuss particles in chapter 6 Chapter 7 concludes
