A Daughter of Isis Nawal El Saadawi, 2013-04-04 Against the white sand the contours of my father s body were well defined emphasized its existence in a world where everything was liquid where the blue of the sea melted into the blue of the sky with nothing between This independent existence was to become the outer world the world of my father of land country religion language moral codes It was to become the world around me A world made of male bodies in which my female body lived Nawal El Saadawi has been pilloried censored imprisoned and exiled for her refusal to accept the oppressions imposed on women by gender and class For her writing and action have been inseparable and this is reflected in some of the most evocative and disturbing novels ever written about Arab women Born in a small Egyptian village in 1931 she eluded the grasp of suitors before whom her family displayed her when she was still ten years old and went on to qualify as a medical doctor In 1969 she published her first work of non fiction Women and Sex in 1972 she was dismissed from her profession because of her political activism From then on there was no respite imprisonment under Sadat in 1981 was the culmination of the long struggle she had waged for Egyptian women s social and intellectual freedom in 1992 her name appeared on a death list issued by a fundamentalist group after which she went into exile for five years Since then she has devoted her time to writing novels and essays and to her activities as a worldwide speaker on women s issues A Daughter of Isis is the autobiography of this extraordinary woman In it she paints a sensuously textured portrait of the childhood that produced the freedom fighter We see how she moulded her own creative power into a weapon how from an early age the use of words became an act of rebellion against injustice

Conscience of the Nation Richard Jacquemond, 2008 Artfully combining social and literary history this unique study explores the dual loyalties of contemporary Egyptian authors from the 1952 Revolution to the present day Egypt's writers have long had an elevated idea of their social mission considering themselves the conscience of the nation. At the same time modern Egyptian writers work under the liberal conception of the writer borrowed from the European model. As a result each Egyptian writer treads the tightrope between authority and freedom, social commitment and artistic license, loyalty to the state and to personal expression in an ongoing quest for an elusive literary ideal. With these fundamentals in mind, Conscience of the Nation examines Egyptian literary production over the past fifty years, surveying works by established writers as well as those of dozens of other authors who are celebrated in Egypt but whose writings are largely unknown to the foreign reader. Novelists and poets, scriptwriters and playwrights, critics and journalists all have battled with and tried to resolve the tensions inherent in the conflicting forces of self and society.
