CRYPTOCURRENCY PRICE ANALYSIS, PREDICTION, AND FORECASTING USING MACHINE LEARNING WITH PYTHON Vivian Siahaan, Rismon Hasiholan Sianipar, 2023-07-21 In this project we will be conducting a comprehensive analysis prediction and forecasting of cryptocurrency prices using machine learning with Python The dataset we will be working with contains historical cryptocurrency price data and our main objective is to build models that can accurately predict future price movements and daily returns The first step of the project involves exploring the dataset to gain insights into the structure and contents of the data We will examine the columns data types and any missing values present After that we will preprocess the data handling any missing values and converting data types as needed This will ensure that our data is clean and ready for analysis Next we will proceed with visualizing the dataset to understand the trends and patterns in cryptocurrency prices over time We will create line plots box plot violin plot and other visualizations to study price movements trading volumes and volatility across different cryptocurrencies These visualizations will help us identify any apparent trends or seasonality in the data To gain a deeper understanding of the time series nature of the data we will conduct time series analysis year wise and month wise This analysis will involve decomposing the time series into its individual components like trend seasonality and noise Additionally we will look for patterns in price movements during specific months to identify any recurring seasonal effects To enhance our predictions we will also incorporate technical indicators into our analysis Technical indicators such as moving averages Relative Strength Index RSI and Moving Average Convergence Divergence MACD provide valuable information about price momentum and market trends These indicators can be used as additional features in our machine learning models With a strong foundation of data exploration visualization and time series analysis we will now move on to building

machine learning models for forecasting the closing price of cryptocurrencies We will utilize algorithms like Linear Regression Support Vector Regression Random Forest Regression Decision Tree Regression K Nearest Neighbors Regression Adaboost Regression Gradient Boosting Regression Extreme Gradient Boosting Regression Light Gradient Boosting Regression Catboost Regression Multi Layer Perceptron Regression Lasso Regression and Ridge Regression to make forecasting By training our models on historical data they will learn to recognize patterns and make predictions for future price movements As part of our machine learning efforts we will also develop models for predicting daily returns of cryptocurrencies Daily returns are essential indicators for investors and traders as they reflect the percentage change in price from one day to the next By using historical price data and technical indicators as input features we can build models that forecast daily returns accurately Throughout the project we will perform extensive hyperparameter tuning using techniques like Grid Search and Random Search This will help us identify the best combinations of hyperparameters for each model optimizing their performance To validate the accuracy and robustness of our models we will use various evaluation metrics such as Mean Squared Error MSE Mean Absolute Error MAE and R squared These metrics will provide insights into the model s ability to predict cryptocurrency prices accurately In conclusion this project on cryptocurrency price analysis prediction and forecasting is a comprehensive exploration of using machine learning with Python to analyze and predict cryptocurrency price movements By leveraging data visualization time series analysis technical indicators and machine learning algorithms we aim to build accurate and reliable models for predicting future price movements and daily returns The project s outcomes will be valuable for investors traders and analysts looking to make informed decisions in the highly volatile and dynamic world of cryptocurrencies Through rigorous evaluation and validation we strive to create robust models that can contribute to a better understanding of cryptocurrency market dynamics and support data driven decision making
