

Contemporary Rhetoric

□ Some “new” definitions:

- Kenneth Burke: “the use of language in such a way as to produce a desired impression upon the hearer or reader” (Counter-Statement 210)
  - Also “The use of language as a symbolic means of inducing cooperation in beings that by nature respond to symbols” (Rhetoric of Motives 1032)
  - Burke’s “different” concept was one of “identification”—the writer attempts to create a connection with a reader through identifying with him/her or persuading the reader to identify with the writer.
- Chaim Perelman: “the new rhetoric is a theory of argumentation” (The New Rhetoric 1083).
  - Perelman is saying that there is no “reality”; there is only argumentation. In Perelman’s view, everything is negotiated between writer and reader through argumentation.

Modern Rhetoric in Culture, Arts, and Media Joachim Knape,2012-12-19 The goal of this book is to formulate a modern theoretical approach for rhetorical studies in a variety of disciplines in the humanities media research and other cultural studies The discipline of rhetoric originally concerned itself with linguistic forms of communication and its basic theory was developed with such cases in mind With respect to this ancient tradition there are numerous books that provide a historical overview of the field There is also a wide array of introductory works and research contributions that deal with the practice of political rhetoric On the other hand only a few 20th century academics have attempted to theoretically rehabilitate rhetoric after its decline as an academic discipline in Europe in the 18th and 19th centuries and to give rhetorical theory a modern new and further reaching perspective Two notable examples have been Kenneth Burke and Brian Vickers The book begins with the assumption that rhetoric is not merely limited to linguistic action but rather is present everywhere in the communicative world Against this background this work develops a modern theory of rhetoric and demonstrates in twelve chapters how methodical rhetorical analysis can be done in selected practical fields of application Literature Music Images and Film Landmark Essays on Contemporary Rhetoric Thomas B. Farrell,2020-10-28

This work brings together the pivotal scholarly essays responsible for the present resurgence in rhetorical studies Assembled by one of the most respected senior scholars in the field of rhetoric the essays chart a course from tradition based theory of civic rhetoric to ongoing issues of figuration power and gender Together with a lucid introductory essay these studies help to integrate the still volatile questions at the core of humanities scholarship in rhetoric The introductory student as well as the seasoned scholar will gain familiarity and footing in this oldest and still new liberal art Logic and Contemporary
