Literature Class, Berkeley 1980 Julio Cortázar,2017-03-28 A master class from the exhilarating writer Julio Cort zar I want you to know that I m not a critic or theorist which means that in my work I look for solutions as problems arise So begins the first of eight classes that the great Argentine writer Julio Cort zar delivered at UC Berkeley in 1980 These classes are as much reflections on Cort zar s own writing career as they are about literature and the historical moment in which he lived Covering such topics as the writer s path while my aesthetic world view made me admire writers like Borges I was able to open my eyes to the language of street slang lunfardo and the fantastic unbeknownst to me the fantastic had become as acceptable as possible and real as the fact of eating soup at eight o clock in the evening Literature Class provides the warm and personal experience of sitting in a room with the great author As Joaquin Marco stated in El Cultural exploring this course is to dive into Cort zar designing his own creations Essential for anyone reading or studying Cort zar cronopio or not

Coral and Concrete Greg Dvorak,2018-11-30 Coral and Concrete

Greg Dvorak's cross-cultural history of Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands, explores intersections of environment, identity, empire, and memory in the largest inhabited coral atoll on earth. Approaching the multiple atollscapes of Kwajalein's past and present as Marshallese ancestral land, Japanese colonial outpost, Pacific War battlefield, American weapons testing base, and an enduring home for many, Dvorak delves into personal narratives and collective mythologies from contradictory vantage points. He navigates the tensions between little stories of ordinary human actors and big stories of global politics, drawing upon the little metaphor of the coral organisms that colonize and build atolls and the big metaphor of the all-encompassing concrete that buries and co-opts the past. Building upon the growing body of literature about militarism and decolonization in Oceania, this book advocates a layered, nuanced approach that emphasizes the multiplicity and contradictions of Pacific Islands histories as an antidote to American hegemony and globalization within and beyond the region. It also brings Japanese, Korean, Okinawan, and American perspectives into conversation with Micronesians' recollections of colonialism and war. This transnational history, built upon a combination of reflective personal narrative, ethnography, cultural studies, and postcolonial studies, thus resituates Kwajalein Atoll as a pivotal site where Islanders have not only thrived for thousands of years but also mediated between East and West, shaping crucial world events. Based on multi-sited ethnographic and archival research, as well as Dvorak's own experiences growing up between Kwajalein, the United States, and Japan, Coral and Concrete integrates narrative and imagery with semiotic analysis of photographs, maps, films, and music, traversing colonial tropical fantasies, tales of victory and defeat, missile testing, fisheries, war, bereavement, rituals, and landowner resistance movements from the twentieth century through the present day. Representing history as a perennial struggle between coral and concrete, the book offers an Oceanian paradigm for decolonization, resistance, solidarity, and optimism that should appeal to all readers far beyond the Marshall Islands.

To Hear The Trees Speak Olivia Sprinkel, 2025-05-08. A poetically written testimony of our own deep relationship with the natural world and of nature's own resilience. Ben Goldsmith. Imagine if you could hear the trees speak. How would it change your life? Your relationship to the world around you? This is the story of what happened when the trees whispered me to quit my job, leave my life in New York, and go on a journey to listen. It is the story of what I learnt from ten trees on five continents and the lessons that the trees have for all of us on how to be in a rapidly changing world. Olivia Sprinkel was sitting in her office in New York, an experienced international sustainability strategy and communications consultant, and as a newly single woman, she decided she had to make a change in her life and undertake a journey. To Hear the Trees Speak: Adventures in Listening is the story of her travels to Europe, North and South America, Australia, and South Asia to discover ten of our world's essential trees and their habitats. The ten trees range from the banyan and bodhi to the olive, giant sequoia, and beech. Powerfully crafted, this is important and accessible nature writing, blended with insightful memoir. I Wear the Morning Star Jamake Highwater, 1986. Sitko, growing up in a hostile white world that tries to make him renounce his heritage as an American Indian, finds refuge in the pictures he paints. The Pharmacology of the Newer
