Dawson

Dawson was established in 1901 by the Phelps Dodge Corporation and named for the former landowner and rancher John Barkley Dawson. At its peak it was the largest mining town in New Mexico with a population of more than 6,000. The workers were mostly immigrants from southern and eastern Europe and Mexico. The company built houses, two schools, two churches, a hospital, store, hotel, bank and cemetery. Recreational facilities such as ball fields, a pool, golf course, and amusement hall were also constructed. The town was abandoned and razed when the coal mines closed in 1950.
