LaFrance, 2006 This casebook begins by defining an ethical community and membership within that community follows with the role of the individual focuses then on the patient provider relationship and closes with bioethical choices The essential premise is that humans must exist in relation to each other and do so as biological beings The central questions then are how do we assert and respect ourselves as individuals and what claims do our communities have upon us Surprisingly there is a large body of caselaw much of it from the Supreme Court dealing with these issues That is the point of this casebook As so Cruzan and Griswold and Casey as well as a number of less familiar cases appear recast for their bioethical significance A number of new issues are also explored such as memory and emotion and physical integrity and sexual predators This new edition of Bioethics Health Care Human Rights and the Law includes the following coverage Reproductive issues of abortion surrogacy and cloning Identity issues of gender change family and same sex marriage Midlife issues such as transplants and tissue donation harvesting End of life issues including persistent vegetative states and assisted death Extensive coverage of Camenisch,2013-03-09 A volume on religious theological methods in biomedical ethics inevitably of whether the methodological dimension can be distinct raises the question quished from the various other things that go on in ethical discourse It is difficult to answer this question definitively since many elements in moral conversation can be interpreted in different ways Barbara Hilkert Andolsen illustrates this issue in this volume when she defines one of her crucial categories gender justice as being both procedural and substantive normative This difficulty of finally separating the methodological from the normative arises in many areas of contemporary ethical writing both feminist and otherwise Nevertheless it seems that in many cases we can separate out the method ological issues with considerable precision Albert Jonsen and James Childress achieve just such a sharp focus in their essays This does not mean that a careful dissecting of their papers would not reveal normative elements lurking about their methodological points It is simply to say that the issues they analyze and the positions they take are at least prima facie overwhelmingly method ological They are much more about how we think about ethical matters than they are about what we think about them Medical Humanities Review ,2001 MHR ,1987 Religious and Theological Abstracts ,2004 Handbook of Bioethics and Religion David E. Guinn,2006-08-10 What role should religion play in a religiously pluralistic liberal society This work address specific issues such as assisted suicide stem cell research cloning reproductive health and alternative medicine It focuses on the interface of religion and bioethics
