Applied Latent Class Analysis:

Applied Latent Class Analysis Jacques A. Hagenaars,2010 Latent Class Analysis Allan L. McCutcheon,1987-05 This important method provides researchers with a powerful and flexible new technique for analyzing the structure of relationships among categorically scored variables Frequently described as a categorical data analogue to factor analysis the method enables researchers to explore the suitability of combining two or more categorical variables into typologies or scales

Applied Latent Class Analysis Jacques A. Hagenaars,Allan L. McCutcheon,2002-06-24 Applied Latent Class Analysis introduces several innovations in latent class analysis to a wider audience of researchers Many of the world s leading innovators in the field of latent class analysis contributed essays to this volume each presenting a key innovation to the basic latent class model and illustrating how it can prove useful in situations typically encountered in actual research Applied Quantitative Analysis in Education and the Social Sciences Yaacov Petscher,Christopher Schatschneider,Donald L. Compton,2013-03-05 To say that complex data analyses are ubiquitous in the education and social sciences might be an understatement Funding agencies and peer review journals alike require that researchers use the most appropriate models and methods for explaining phenomena Univariate and multivariate data structures often require the application of more rigorous methods than basic correlational or analysis of variance models Additionally though a vast set of resources may exist on how to run analysis difficulties may be encountered when explicit direction is not provided as to how one should run a model and interpret results The mission of this book is to expose the reader to advanced quantitative methods as it pertains to individual level analysis multilevel analysis item level analysis and covariance structure analysis Each chapter is self contained and follows a common format so that readers can run the analysis and correctly interpret the output for reporting

Latent Variable Mixture Modeling as Applied to Survivors of Breast Cancer James Matthew Henson,2004 Developing a Subtyping System for Selective Mutism Sharon Liza Cohan,2007 The accumulated knowledge about selective mutism SM suggests that children who receive this diagnosis are a heterogeneous group some are characterized by high levels of social anxiety while others also exhibit behavioral and speech language problems This study was designed to develop an empirically derived subtyping system for SM using parent report measures of social anxiety Social Anxiety Scale for Children Revised La Greca Eyberg Bishop 2003 The sample consisted of 130 children recruited from a large SM advocacy group Results from latent profile analysis comparing 2 3 and 4 class models supported a 3 class solution but a 4 class solution was also plausible The 3 class model suggested the existence of an anxious mildly oppositional subtype an anxious communication delayed subtype and a primarily anxious subtype Follow up analyses for the 3 class model indicated no significant subtype differences in functional impairment Child Anxiety Impact Scale Parent Version Langley Bergman McCracken Bergman Keller Wood Piacentini Achenbach 2001 and expressive receptive language abilities Vineland Adaptive Behavior Scales II

Sparrow Cicchetti Balla 2005 Our results indicate that SM children are characterized by high levels of social anxiety but they may also show speech language delays and low level behavior problems Viewing SM as solely due to anxiety may cause researchers and clinicians to overlook important facets of the disorder

Saunders, 2007 Inviting the help of colleagues worldwide the concise Diagnostic Issues in Substance Use Disorders is part of the new series Advancing the Research Agenda for DSM V Its 19 chapters by an international group of experts are designed to stimulate questions that will help guide research related to the development of the next editions of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM V and the International Classification of Diseases ICD 11 with the goal of ensuring that the major substance use diagnoses represent the same condition in both references They cover 10 major issues in three main sections Overarching issues relevant for the development of international diagnostic systems statistical modeling techniques and whether DSM V should use categorical and or dimensional diagnostic approaches methods review emphasizing new hybrid techniques for developing and testing diagnostic concepts the need for separate clinical and research oriented diagnostic criteria incorporating both categorical and dimensional attributes neurobiological changes characterizing substance dependence the importance of cultural attributes in developing definitions of substance use disorders and the history of the development of diagnostic systems and how to optimize the crosswalk between DSM and ICD Research questions more specific to the substance use disorders section of DSM comorbidity between substance use disorders and other psychiatric conditions the relatively unique clinical course of substance induced mental disorders and appropriate treatment approaches the precision of the criteria and threshold for a diagnosis and how to improve them the subtypes of substance use disorder including how they have been derived and the extent to which they relate to neurobiological processes the seemingly high prevalence of alcohol dependence in young people suggested research questions to evaluate the application of diagnostic criteria to adolescents and the specific psychoactive substances cannabis and nicotine Whether substance use disorders should be included in a broader section termed addictive disorders impulse control disorders especially pathological gambling and the advantages and disadvantages of adding it to the current substance use disorders section identifying research opportunities regarding their assessment and neurocognitive and physiological bases discussing the specifics of the research agenda and how it might be implemented and presenting questions generated by the research agenda developmental process This informative compendium distills the findings of a wealth of recent research and concludes with recommendations for exploiting research opportunities that promise to inform decisions regarding DSM V and other classification systems As such it will prove invaluable for clinicians and researchers everywhere
