Ashland The First 130 Years:

Ashland Marjorie O'Harra, 1984-02 The Oregon Companion Richard H. Engeman, 2009-09-01 What is the connection between Ken Kesey and Nancy's Yogurt? How about the difference between a hoedad and a webfoot? What became of the Pixie Kitchen and the vanished Lambert Gardens? The Oregon Companion is an A-Z handbook of over 1000 people, places, and things. From Abernethy and beaver money to houseboats, railroads, and the Zigzag River, an intrepid public historian separates fact from fiction with his sense of humor intact. Entries include towns and cities, counties, rivers, lakes, and mountains; people who have left a mark on Oregon; industries, products, crops, and natural resources. Includes more than 160 historical black and white photos. This entertaining and delightfully meticulous compendium is an essential reference for anyone curious about Oregon.

The Chautauqua Moment Andrew Chamberlin Rieser, 2003-11-05 This book traces the rise and decline of what Theodore Roosevelt once called the most American thing in America: the Chautauqua movement. It began in 1874 on the shores of Chautauqua Lake in western New York. More than a college or a summer resort or a religious assembly, it was a composite of all of these, completely derivative yet brilliantly innovative. For five decades, Chautauqua dominated adult education and reached millions with its summer assemblies, reading clubs, and traveling circuits. Scholars have long struggled to make sense of Chautauqua's pervasive yet disorganized presence in American life. In this critical study, Andrew Rieser weaves the threads of Chautauqua into a single story and places it at the vital center of fin de siècle cultural and political history. Famous for its commitment to democracy, women's rights, and social justice, Chautauqua was nonetheless blind to issues of class and race. How could something that trumpeted democracy be so undemocratic in practice? The answer, Rieser argues, lies in the historical experience of the white Protestant middle classes who struggled to reconcile their parochial interests with radically new ideas about social progress and the state. The Chautauqua Moment brings color to a colorless demographic and spins a fascinating tale of modern liberalism's ambivalent but enduring cultural legacy.

Oregon 1859 Janice Marschner, 2008-07-15 The essential Oregon guide for time travelers of all ages. Oregon became the 33rd state in the Union on February 14, 1859. Portland had wooden sidewalks and tamped dirt streets unlit by gaslight until a year later. To the south, gold glittered in streams; towns with names like Echo, Lookingglass, and Quartzville were springing up all over. It is a time to remember and revisit today, 150 years later, with this detailed and lively guide. Janice Marschner provides all you need to travel through each of Oregon's 19 original counties at the moment of statehood: a map showing each county's 1859 place names and current reference points; the history of native peoples and settlers; early roads and bridges; the first homes, schools, stores, hotels, and churches; biographical sketches of notable individuals throughout the state. Historical photographs show the determined faces of natives and settlers, their oxen and wagons on wide, rough roads; their rafts and ferries on the rivers; and their towns under development. An inspiring close-up portrait at the moment of statehood, Oregon 1859 will light the way back for anyone who wants to see Oregon today as it was then. The Park Builders Thomas R.

Cox,2011-04-21 Among the greatest attractions of the Pacific Northwest are its state parks campgrounds and tree lined highways From Idaho hot springs to the Oregon coast millions of people enjoy this priceless legacy every year but few stop to think about the source of this bounty The Park Builders profiles the men who provided the parks and the times that shaped them From its beginnings as part of the progressive crusades to its evolution into an expected function of state government the state parks movement in the Northwest is a window onto the political and social developments of the twentieth century The states of Washington Idaho and Oregon were generally in the mainstream of the parks movement but each of their histories is unique Taken together they help to define the nature and limitations of regionalism in the Northwest Especially in the early years the story of state parks was largely the story of individuals Drawing extensively from interviews and personal papers Thomas Cox creates memorable pictures of parks activists in each state Robert Moran creator of the battleship Nebraska spent a decade lobbying the state of Washington to accept his magnificent acreage on Orcas Island Sam Boardman went from a road crew to the head of Oregon s park system and took up his mission with a zeal that was literally religious To me a park is a pulpit he wrote The more you keep it as He made it the closer you are to Him In Idaho Senator Weldon Heyburn no proponent of state expenditures set out to create a national park and ended up with a premier state park named for him State parks serve more people at far less expense than do those in the National Park System Since their fates are determined largely at the state level they are an ideal venue for the study of grassroots activism and regional trends This book is the first to collect these themes into a coherent whole It will serve as a model for further regional studies of its kind
