Chiles Native Forests A Conservation Legacy:

Chile's Native Forests Ken Wilcox,1996 Chile's Native Forests A Conservation Legacy is a book about one of the wildest remaining temperate forest regions of the world including the largest temperate rainforest outside of North America All of the nation's major forest ecosystems are described The work is richly illustrated with maps and photos and includes brief histories of forest exploitation and conservation over the last 500 years The book also shares what the many Chileans feel are the greatest threats to these wild forests and what experts believe to be the highest priorities for conservation Chile's Native Forests is an essential reference for those with an interest in forests and forest conservation in Chile or Latin America for Chile bound eco travelers or for anyone concerned about the future of the world's temperate forests Multi-ethnic Bird Guide of the Sub-Antarctic Forests of South America Ricardo Rozzi,2010 Previously published in English under title Multi ethnic bird guide of the austral temperate forests of South America Plant Life in the World's Mediterranean Climates Peter R. Dallman,1998 Here is a wonderful overview of the landscape and vegetation of the five regions of the world that have a Mediterranean climate In addition to the Mediterranean Basin itself this climate of mild rainy winters and dry warm summers is found in California and parts of Chile South Africa and Australia 30 maps 18 tables 46 line illustrations 75 color and 90 b w photos Global Environmental Forest Policies Constance McDermott,Benjamin Cashore,Peter Kanowski,2010-08-12 Market globalization and the globalization of environmental concerns have spurred demand for greater international accountability for forest stewardship In response a range of multi lateral governmental and non governmental initiatives have emerged to redefine the rules of global trade and demand verification of the legality and or sustainability of forest products originating from within and outside national boundaries At the same time there is a lack of transparency and shared understanding about the environmental forest policies that already exist within the world's leading forest producing and consuming countries The result is that many stakeholders have developed perceptions about a country's regulatory environment that are not consistent with what is actually taking place This book provides a uniquely detailed and systematic comparison of environmental forest policies and enforcement in twenty countries worldwide covering developed transition and developing economies The goal is to enhance global policy learning and promote well informed and precisely tuned policy solutions La Frontera Thomas Miller Klubock,2014-04-16 In La Frontera Thomas Miller Klubock offers a pioneering social and environmental history of southern Chile exploring the origins of today's forestry miracle in Chile Although Chile's forestry boom is often attributed to the free market policies of the Pinochet dictatorship La Frontera shows that forestry development began in the early twentieth century when Chilean governments turned to forestry science and plantations of the North American Monterey pine to establish their governance of the frontier's natural and social worlds Klubock demonstrates that modern conservationist policies and scientific forestry drove the enclosure of frontier commons occupied by indigenous and non indigenous peasants who were defined as a threat to both native forests and tree plantations

La Frontera narrates the century long struggles among peasants Mapuche indigenous communities large landowners and the state over access to forest commons in the frontier territory It traces the shifting social meanings of environmentalism by showing how during the 1990s rural laborers and Mapuches once vilified by conservationists and foresters drew on the language of modern environmentalism to critique the social dislocations produced by Chile's much vaunted neoliberal economic model linking a more just social order to the biodiversity of native forests
