China Reforming Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations:

China Ramgopal Agarwala,1992 China Ramgopal Agarwala,Banco Mundial,1992 Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations in China Roy W. Bahl,1992 Is there a best way to divide fiscal responsibilities between China's central and local governments in China's three tiered fiscal system Fiscal Policy in China Roy W. Bahl,1999 In this book Professor Roy Bahl traces the history of the 1994 tax reform in China and evaluates its impact The 1994 reform was the most systematic and comprehensive restructuring of China's revenue system It covered the country's tax structure tax administration central provincial fiscal relations and provincial local fiscal relations In a concluding chapter he examines possibilities for continuing taxation reform in China Only a scholar with Professor Roy Bahl's extensive experience as adviser to developing countries on tax reform could have written a book with such breadth and depth This book should be required reading for all students of economic development comparative fiscal systems or the Chinese economy Reforming China's Public Finances Mr.Ehtisham Ahmad,Mr.Vito Tanzi,Qiang Gao,1995-09-08 The reform of fiscal relations between different levels of government is crucial to the success of China's current structural transformation to a socialist market economy The reform will profoundly affect macroeconomic stability growth prospects and the effectiveness of providing public services and interregional equity In order to review international experience and to clearly identify the policy options for China in the short to medium term a conference was held in Shanghai in October 1993 The papers in this volume edited by Ehtisham Ahmad Gao Qiang and Vito Tanzi include those presented at the conference and a few that supplement it Taxation in Modern China Donald J. S. Brean,2013-10-23 Taxation in Modern China is concerned with tax and public financial issues arising in China's economic transition The contributors among the leading authorities on public finance transitional economics and policy reform in China direct attention to the largest and most comprehensive fiscal reform program in modern history The essays collected here cover the main institutional intergovernmental and industrial issues and address the long term challenges facing China as well as transitional changes Governance, Decentralization and Reform in China, India and Russia Jean-Jacques Dethier,2000-09-30 The papers in Governance Decentralization and Reform in China India and Russia which were presented at a ZEF conference in May 1999 deal with three critical aspects of governance in China India and Russia political reforms at the local level fiscal reforms in intergovernmental relations and legal reforms The volume collects contributions from 24 outstanding economists political scientists and legal specialists including Vito Tanzi Daniel Treisman Pranab Bardham Jean Dr ze Katharina Pistor and Kathryn Hendley Distorted economic and political incentive structures capture of the state by powerful elites and inoperative legal systems are factors that have greatly complicated the political economy of reform in these three large countries with heterogeneous populations Addressing these political and institutional issues is essential to designing good policies One particular goal of this volume is to bring together new analytical insights and empirical evidence on governance a new and growing field of research The volume is divided into three parts fiscal federalism decentralization and provision of local public goods and legal reforms Part I discusses the role of incentives in fiscal federalism The papers analyze the effects of different revenue sharing mechanisms between different levels of government in particular the effects on regional growth and inequality and the incentives that local politicians may have to provide public goods depending on fiscal arrangements with the central government In adapting their governance structures all three countries have been striving for increased decentralization But the theoretical literature suggests that in a decentralized setting second best solutions must prevail it is not possible to ensure incentive compatibility simultaneously with optimal allocation of resources and a balanced budget in providing public goods Part II discusses taxation and public expenditure management both as a political and as a budgetary process Two questions which the papers address are Does participation of stakeholders and accountability of public authorities improve economic and social outcomes Does better governance in the provision of basic goods such as health care and education improve equity While decentralization is often seen as a way to improve the quality of public services rule based governance is viewed as a safeguard against the arbitrariness of public officials and weaknesses in law enforcement The five papers in Part III focus on the rule of law the role of the judicial system in establishing a rule based economy and the effectiveness of legal institutions during the transition from socialism to a market economy They present overviews of current legal reform issues in the three countries and discuss various conceptual approaches to addressing legal reform issues

Issues in Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations in China Ms.Era Dabla-Norris,2005-02-01 The paper reviews the changing nature of intergovernmental fiscal relations between the provinces and the central government in China over the past two decades and provides an assessment of the success of previous reforms in meeting their objectives Key existing weaknesses in the current system that undermine these objectives are identified Alternative instruments procedures rules and incentives that could result in better outcomes are outlined by drawing upon relevant cross country experiences

China's Tax Reform Options Trish Fulton,Jinyan Li,Dianqing Xu,1998 Selected papers presented at the International Symposium on Reform of the Chinese Tax System held at the University of Western Ontario in London Canada in Aug 1996

Innovative China Development Research Center of the State Council,World Bank Group,2020-01-13 After more than three decades of average annual growth close to 10 percent China s economy is transitioning to a new normal of slower but more balanced and sustainable growth Its old drivers of growth a growing labor force the migration from rural areas to cities high levels of investments and expanding exports are waning or having less impact China s policymakers are well aware that the country needs new drivers of growth This report proposes a reform agenda that emphasizes productivity and innovation to help policymakers promote China s future growth and achieve their vision of a modern and innovative China The reform agenda is based on the three D s removing Distortions to strengthen market competition and enhance the efficient allocation of resources in the economy accelerating Diffusion of advanced technologies and management practices in China s economy taking advantage of the large remaining potential for

China's 40 Years of Reform and Development: 1978-2018 Ross Garnaut, Ligang Song, Cai Fang, 2018-07-19 The year 2018 marks 40 years of reform and development in China 1978-2018 This commemorative book assembles some of the world's most prominent scholars on the Chinese economy to reflect on what has been achieved as a result of the economic reform programs and to draw out the key lessons that have been learned by the model of growth and development in China over the preceding four decades This book explores what has happened in the transformation of the Chinese economy in the past 40 years for China itself as well as for the rest of the world and discusses the implications of what will happen next in the context of China's new reform agenda Focusing on the long term development strategy amid various old and new challenges that face the economy this book sets the scene for what the world can expect in China's fifth decade of reform and development A key feature of this book is its comprehensive coverage of the key issues involved in China's economic reform and development Included are discussions of China's 40 years of reform and development in a global perspective the political economy of economic transformation the progress of marketisation and changes in market compatible institutions the reform program for state owned enterprises the financial sector and fiscal system reform and its foreign exchange system reform the progress and challenges in economic rebalancing and the continuing process of China's global integration This book further documents and analyses the development experiences including China's large scale of migration and urbanisation the demographic structural changes the private sector development income distribution land reform and regional development agricultural development and energy and climate change policies

Intergovernmental Fiscal Reform in China Mr. Philippe Wingender, 2018-04-13 China is the most decentralized country in the world in terms of expenditures shares with subnational governments responsible for 85 percent of government spending Limited revenue autonomy and insufficient intergovernmental transfers have led to large unfunded mandates and a build up of debt outside the budget The government has recently announced an ambitious intergovernmental fiscal reform which will increase the role of the central government Comprehensive reform is needed to improve public service delivery increase overall social spending levels and reduce regional disparities Revenue reforms are also necessary to improve efficiency and reduce vulnerabilities from excessive subnational borrowing These reforms are challenging but are crucial so that the government can support China's continued development and prosperity

Fiscal Decentralization and Rural Development in China Justin Lin, 1997

Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations Mr. Vivek B. Arora, Mr. John Norregaard, 1997-10-01 This paper provides an overview of recent Chinese reforms to introduce a modern system of fiscal federalism that balances the need for central macroeconomic control with the economic advantages of decentralized government Following a discussion of the rationale for decentralization the paper describes the main structural and economic developments in China in this area including their impact on economic stabilization The key measures in the 1994 fiscal reforms as well as reform initiatives needed in the future are also discussed

Cities in Post-Mao China Jae Ho Chung,2005-06-21 This volume written by contributors from a number of different specialisms suggests that different combinations of factors have contributed to the relative successes and failures in these cities Endowment factors preferential policies and history have all proved to be important Most importantly Cities in Post Mao China suggests that locally generated strategies of development are crucial determinants This ground breaking volume reveals through close detail and broad coverage how exactly cities have been catalysts for Chinas economic development It will provide much needed data for those working in the fields of comparative politics development studies economic development and Asian studies
