Talepakemalai Brian S Bauer, Javier Fonseca Santa Cruz, 2021-11-15 The Lapita Cultural Complex first uncovered in the mid 20th century as a widespread archaeological complex spanning both Melanesia and Western Polynesia has subsequently become recognized as of fundamental importance to Oceanic prehistory Notable for its highly distinctive elaborate dentate stamped pottery Lapita sites date to between 3500 2700 BP spanning the geographic range from the Bismarck Archipelago to Tonga and Samoa The Lapita culture has been interpreted as the archaeological manifestation of a diaspora of Austronesian speaking people specifically of Proto Oceanic language who rapidly expanded from Near Oceania the New Guinea Bismarcks region into Remote Oceania where no humans had previously ventured Lapita is thus a foundational culture throughout much of the southwestern Pacific ancestral to much of the later ethnographically attested cultural diversity of the region

Bikeri Attila Gyucha, William A. Parkinson, Richard W. Yerkes, 2021-11-15 The transition from the Neolithic period to the Copper Age in the northern Balkans and the Carpathian Basin was marked by significant changes in material culture settlement layout and organization and mortuary practices that indicate fundamental social transformations in the middle of the fifth millennium BC Prior research into the Late Neolithic of the region focused almost exclusively on fortified tell settlements The Early Copper Age by contrast was known primarily from cemeteries such as the type site of Tiszapolgar Basatanya This edited book describes the multi disciplinary research conducted by the Koros Regional Archaeological Project in southeastern Hungary from 2000 2007 Centered around two Early Copper Age Tiszapolgar culture villages in the Koros Region of the Great Hungarian Plain Veszto Bikeri and Korosladany Bikeri our research incorporated excavation surface collection geophysical survey and soil chemistry to investigate settlement layout and organization Our results yielded the first extensive systematically collected datasets from Early Copper Age settlements on the Great Hungarian Plain The two adjacent villages at Bikeri located only 70 m apart were similar in size and both were protected with fortifications Relative and absolute dates demonstrate that they were occupied sequentially during the Early Copper Age from ca 4600 4200 cal B C The excavated assemblages from the sites are strikingly similar suggesting that both were occupied by the same community This process of settlement relocation after only a few generations breaks from the longer lasting settlement pattern that are typical of the Late Neolithic but other aspects of the villages continue traditions that were established during the preceding period including the construction of enclosure systems and longhouses

The Kahramanmaraş Valley Survey Elizabeth Carter, 2024-08-01 The volume presents a study of local landscape histories in the Kahramanmaraş valley a previously understudied but pivotal crossroads along the Syro Anatolian frontier The Holocene vegetation history is presented in relation to climatic changes and human impact through the pollen analytical results of a deep core obtained from a former Sa l k Gavur lakebed Extensive surface surveys carried out in the region between 1993 and 2000 form the basis of the settlement pattern studies beginning with the first permanent settlement of the valley in the

Neolithic and ending with the Islamic era The results of an intensive full coverage and transect surveys around Domuztepe are found in Chapter 10 The analysis of a long historical record diverse physical environment and a significant number of archaeological sites are used to outline the myriad ways the ancient residents of this region between Syria and Anatolia made it their home for over seven thousand years

protohistory of Illyria has largely been shaped by the contents of such burial mounds What inspired the systematic exploration of Lofkend by UCLA was more than the promise of an un plundered necropolis it was also a chance to revisit the significance of this tumulus and its fellows for the emergence of urbanism and complexity in ancient Illyria In addition to artifacts the recovery of surviving plant remains bones and other organic material contribute insights into the environmental and ecological history of the region
