As I Was Saying Volume Three Urbanistics:

The Architecture of Ruins Jonathan Hill, 2019-03-25 The Architecture of Ruins Designs on the Past Present and Future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin This design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death Conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture Structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society Emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design Like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present Equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief We expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil The architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian Like building sites ruins are full of potential In revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past As a stimulus to the imagination a ruin s incomplete and broken forms expand architecture s allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects Emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change Architectural Possibilities in the Work of Eisenman Michael Jasper, 2022-11-11 This book examines the central decades of Peter Eisenman s work through a formal and thematic analysis of key architectural projects and writings revealing underlying characteristics and arguing for their productive continuity and transformative role The book explores Eisenman s approach to architectural form generation and thinking It does this through a thematic and formal analysis of projects and writings from the mid 1970s to the mid 1990s Following an introductory chapter addressing the theme of potentialities the book is organised in two parts The first part focuses on key period writings of Eisenman framing the close reading around a practice of resistance the architect s approach to history as analysis and the transformative conceptualisation of time In the second part the book undertakes an analysis of select projects from the 1980s and 1990s Three formal preoccupations and conceptual orientations ground manipulations figuration and spatial events organise this part of the book Previously unpublished material from the

Peter Eisenman fonds Canadian Centre for Architecture Montréal provides primary source material A concluding chapter addresses Eisenman's teaching its relation to his larger project and possible legacies for educators practitioners scholars and theorists

The Sustainable City VI C. A. Brebbia, S. Hernandez, E. Tiezzi, 2010 Addresses the multi disciplinary aspects of urban planning a result of the increasing size of cities the amount of resources and services required and the complexity of modern society Innovative tools are required for identifying the high complexity of contemporary cities It is necessary to provide a more scientific approach to urban studies inspired by Prigogine's theories of dissipative structures and to highlight relations between different systems and between systems and the environment The challenge of placing sustainable contemporary cities lies in considering the dynamics of urban systems exchange of energy and matter and the function and maintenance of ordered structures directly or indirectly supplied and maintained by natural systems The task of researchers aware of the complexity of the contemporary city is to increase the capacity to manage human activities pursuing welfare and prosperity in sustainable cities
