Asia Teaching About Learning From

Colin Marsh, John Chi-Kin Lee

Asia Teaching About Learning From:

Asia Seymour H. Fersh, 1978 More than half the world's people live in Asia. This fact alone justifies the importance of Asian studies in today's American curriculum. Author Seymour Fersh believes that Asian studies can and should be more than a subject area; they should be a source of stimulation and enrichment that will help students of all ages become self-directing as well as better informed. Students can benefit from the opportunity of learning from as well as about Asia.

Learning to Teach Small Classes Maurice Galton, Kwok Chan Lai, Kam Wing Chan, 2014-08-13 The justification for smaller classes has traditionally been that students can receive more individual attention and be provided with a curriculum that promotes student-centred learning. However, in Asia, where student engagement is generally over 90% in primary school classrooms, the focus of smaller classes is for teachers to increase the quality of their teaching, building on the already impressive levels of student engagement. Learning to Teach Small Classes comprehensively instructs teachers on ways they can utilise the advantage of a smaller class to its fullest potential. It works through different case studies and gives examples of successful classroom practice in each of the core subject areas: Chinese, English, and Mathematics. Chapters include: Setting Objectives, Asking and Answering Questions, Sustaining Successful Group and Pair Work, The Use of Feedback and Assessment for Developing Independence in Learning, Bringing it all together, and Sustaining Effective Practice. With questions for discussion and further suggested reading, this book is an invaluable resource for anyone involved in small class teaching and East Asian teaching and education policy.

Asia's High Performing Education Systems Colin Marsh, John Chi-Kin Lee, 2014-07-17 Education officials, specialist leaders, and teachers have all been involved in different ways to bring about school reform in Hong Kong. This book is a very current and relevant analysis of this reform, highlighting the way in which agencies have cooperated in bringing about change over the last several decades. Through a process of wide-ranging decision-making, collaboration, and consensus among key bodies and agencies, some important developments have occurred. The reforms collectively have had and are continuing to have a major impact upon schooling in Hong Kong. This volume represents a range of authors and specialists involved in a number of different reforms, covering themes such as historical policy, contexts, new curriculum approaches, changing pedagogies, school leadership, implementation, and change, and assessment and evaluation. This is a very topical book which provides a probing analysis of how an Asian education system has been able to reach and maintain a very high performing level.

Theorizing Teaching and Learning in Asia and Europe John Chi-Kin Lee, Kerry J. Kennedy, 2017-03-27 There has been much debate in recent times between the Anglo-American tradition of curriculum studies and the Continental and North European tradition of didactics. Didaktik is as important as such debate has been; this book seeks to add new voices to the debate, representing ideas and traditions from a different part of the world. The focus is on Chinese curriculum thinking that has passed through a number of stages and currently represents a blend of some aspects of the American tradition and Chinese cultural traditions. How does Chinese thinking about curriculum teaching and learning resonate with European didactic traditions and what are the implications for theorizing an expanded field of curriculum studies This book deliberately transcends borders and cultures to explore new territory to provide a platform for open dialogue and to open up new areas of investigation Chapters include Curriculum Reform and Research in China A Social Historical Perspective What Mathematics Did Teachers Learn Comparison of the School and the Pre Service Teacher Mathematics Curricula in Germany and Taiwan Living in Parallel Worlds A Transatlantic Dialogue between General Didactics and Instructional Design

Conditions for English Language Teaching and Learning in Asia Bernard Spolsky, Kiwan Sung, 2015-01-12 In 1989 Bernard Spolsky published Conditions for Second Language Learning Oxford University Press At the 2012 Annual Conference of Asia TEFL a number of senior scholars were invited to comment upon the relevance of the book to the teaching of English in their region and to make suggestions on how it might be updated This volume contains revised versions of these talks and thus provides a survey of the conditions for teaching English in Asia Most contributors found the Conditions model useful but there has been a major change in emphasis in the past two decades whereas the 1989 book emphasized linguistic and psycholinguistic conditions more recent work generally emphasizes the importance of sociolinguistic and language policy conditions for teaching English in Asia today

Resources in Education, 1998 Education about Asia, 2008 Language Learning with Technology Lindsay Miller, Junjie Gavin Wu, 2021-08-31 This book is about language learning with technology offering readers theoretical insights as well as practical case studies with a focus on Asia and Asian students Although technology is rapidly advancing and most if not all students are already using technology in their everyday lives traditional teaching learning practices still exist throughout Asia This book provides examples written by representative educators from a variety of countries regions and contexts where technology has successfully been used to enhance language learning In addition to some everyday examples of using technology Wikipedia PowerPoint Google Docs and YouTube the book also offers the readers an insight into the future possible uses of advanced technology Augmented Reality Virtual Reality Artificial Intelligence and Eye Tracking The book presents illustrations of how teachers can and perhaps should be open to integrating some form of technology into in class learning or using it to supplement out of class activities

Professional Development of English Language Teachers in Asia Kayoko Hashimoto, Van-Trao Nguyen,2018-05-16

Why has English language proficiency in Japan remained so low in comparison to other Asian countries Has Vietnam attempted to improve English language teaching because ASEAN has adopted English as its working language Why do English language teachers struggle with curriculum changes imposed by governments in order to make them competitive in the international community Do professional development PD programs actually meet the needs of teachers This book addresses issues surrounding these questions by examining how the Japanese and Vietnamese governments have approached and defined the PD of English language teachers and how such PD programs have been delivered It further analyses the impact of policy changes on individual teachers and explores how PD can help teachers to implement such changes effectively at the micro level PD of language teachers or language teacher education is relatively new as a field of inquiry in Applied Linguistics By including case studies of Japan and Vietnam in the one volume this book embarks on the challenging task of demonstrating that PD is an essential element of the successful implementation of language policies in Asia where World Englishes have been shaped by distinct local contexts
