Chinese Adapting The Past Facing The Future:

A Study Guide to the Chinese: Adapting the Past, Facing the Future Thomas M. Buoye, 1992 The textbook The Chinese Adapting the Past Facing the Future is a massive book that collects diverse materials and often differing opinions presenting a challenge to students accustomed to more conventional texts This Study Guide has been designed to help two kinds of students meet this challenge For those who use The Chinese as a stand alone classroom text the Study Guide will help them integrate and assimilate the diverse materials and opinions they encounter in its pages For other nontraditional students this guide performs the additional service of coordinating the readings with the twenty six half hour video segments of The Chinese telecourse package Students of both kinds will find the Study Guide helpful as they seek to consolidate their understanding of the many complex issues they encounter v

Rendering Chinese Classics into English I Pan Wenguo, 2025-10-31 This first volume of a three volume encyclopedic set explores Chinese English translation through Chinese cultural perspectives and modern translation theories The volume provides essential context for the translation of Chinese classics while offering new insights into cultural translation It covers three key areas traditional Chinese cultural systems and their core principles modern approaches to translating Chinese culture and specialized theories for translating Chinese classics including their cultural context necessity and theoretical foundations This work will serve as an invaluable resource for scholars and students of Chinese English translation and Chinese studies seeking practical guidance on translation methodology as well as for translators working with classical Chinese texts Chinese Families in the Post-Mao Era Deborah Davis, Stevan Harrell, 1993-10-02 This collection of essays concerns both urban and rural Chinese communities ranging from professional to working class families The contributors attempt to determine whether and to what extent the policy shifts that followed Mao Zedong's death affected Chinese families

Institutional Variety in East Asia
Werner Pascha, Cornelia Storz, Markus Taube, 2011 This illuminating book broadly addresses the emerging field of diversity of Capitalism from a comparative institutional approach It explores the varied patterns for achieving coordination in different economic systems applying them specifically to China Japan and South Korea These countries are of particular interest due to the fact that they are often considered to have developed their own peculiar blend of models of capitalism The expert contributors take a common institutional approach focusing on institutions at the macro level They present case studies to demonstrate the diversity of institutional patterns at the advent of the 21st century both within the East Asian region and elsewhere Examples of stability within existing institutions are illustrated alongside examples of comprehensive institutional change Underpinning the case studies are a set of theoretical and empirical challenges for researchers concerned with national institutional settings path dependence and endogenous dynamics

A Protestant Church in Communist China
John Craig William Keating, 2012-02-16 Freedom of religious belief is guaranteed under the constitution of the People's Republic of China but the degree to which this freedom is able to be exercised remains a highly controversial issue Much scholarly attention has been given to persecuted underground groups such as Falun but one area that remains largely unexplored is the relationship between officially registered churches and the communist government This study investigates the history of one such official church Moore Memorial Church in Shanghai This church was founded by American Methodist missionaries By the time of the 1949 revolution it was the largest Protestant church in East Asia running seven day a week programs As a case study of one individual church operating from an historical rather than theological perspective this study examines the experience of people at this church against the backdrop of the turbulent politics of the Mao and Deng eras It asks and seeks to answer questions such as were the people at the church pleased to see the foreign missionaries leave Were people forced to sign the so called Christian manifesto Once the church doors were closed in 1966 did worshipers go underground Why was this particular church especially chosen to be the first re opened in Shanghai in 1979 What explanations are there for its phenomenal growth since then A considerable proportion of the data for this study is drawn from Chinese language sources including interviews personal correspondence statistics internal church documents and archives many of which have never previously been published or accessed by foreign researchers The main focus of this study is on the period from 1949 to 1989 a period in which the church experienced many ups and downs restrictions and limitations The Mao era in particular remains one of the least understood and seldom written about periods in the history of Christianity in China This study therefore makes a significant contribution to our evolving understanding of the delicate balancing act between compromise co operation and compliance that categorizes church state relations in modern China

Towards Illiberal Democracy D. Bell,D. Brown,K. Jayasuriya,D. Jones,1995-08-14 This book challenges the view that liberal democracy is the inevitable outcome of economic modernization Focusing on the stable and prosperous societies of Pacific Asia it argues that contemporary political arrangements are legitimised by the values of hierarchy familism and harmony An arrangement that clearly contrasts with a western understanding of political liberalism and the communicatory democracy it facilitates Instead of political change resulting from a demand for autonomy by interest groups in civil society the adoption of democratic practice in Asia ought to be viewed primarily as a state strategy to manage socio economic change

Red Cat, White Cat Robert Weil,1996 Robert Weil has written a brilliant powerfully argued book that cuts through the hogwash pouring from the West and from China about the miracle of the Deng reforms Weil shows how Deng s use of capitalism to build socialism has resulted in the use of socialism to build capitalism This is powerful stuff must reading for all those who care about the future of humanity William Hinton Contract and Property in Early Modern China Madeleine Zelin,Johnathan Ocko,Robert Gardella,2004-02-18 Providing a new perspective on economic and legal institutions particularly on contract and property in Qing and Republican history this volume provides case studies to explicate how these institutions worked while situating them firmly in their broader social context Beginner's Chinese Yong Ho,1997 This introduction to Mandarin Chinese is designed for those with little or no prior experience in the language Research in Governmental and Non-profit Accounting ,1996 China Off Center Susan D. Blum,Lionel M. Jensen,2002-09-30 China Off Center takes as its fundamental assumption that contemporary China can only be understood as a complex decentralized place where the view from above Beijing and from tourist buses is a skewed one Instead of generalizing about China it demonstrates that this diverse national terrain is better conceived as it is experienced by Chinese as a set of many Chinas To that end this anthology of interpretive essays and ethnographic reports focuses on the everyday the particular the local and the puzzling Together with contextualizing introductions the readings provide students with a compelling look at some little known but significant aspects of China from the past decade for those already familiar with China they furnish an assortment of uncommon viewpoints in a single convenient volume Political Tides in the Arab World Muhammad Y.
