Conducting Educational Research A Comparative View:

Conducting Educational Research R. Murray Thomas, 1998-09-30 Emphasizing the comparative aspects of research this introduction to educational research traces the process through five stages choosing what to study including specifying the research problem collecting information organizing and summarizing information interpreting results and reporting the outcomes Each of the stages offers diverse options available to researchers for solving the problems of that stage and a research project checklist at the end of each chapter guides readers in applying the chapter's contents to their own research studies In much educational discourse comparative education has referred solely to the study of educational similarities and differences between regions of the world or between two or more nations This book uses the broader definition of the term to encompass a large body of research including studies focusing on comparisons between local educational systems schools classrooms language groups religious denominations genders social classes and individual students Students who are planning research projects as well as staff members of such organizations as ministries of education school systems bureaus of educational research and educational aid agencies will find this volume indispensable Conducting Educational Research Bruce W. Tuckman, 1978 This text focuses on analyzing and critically evaluating published research The text includes a checklist sample study and research problems that are already worked out This fifth edition features instructions and descriptions for running statistical tests using the personal computer and the software program SPSS The text also includes expanded coverage of qualitative data collection methods Smaller changes include more information on the ethical requirements for researchers and discussion of the use of meta analysis and techniques for employing a wider range of research designs Conducting Educational Research Bruce W. Tuckman, Brian E. Harper, 2012-02-09 Conducting Educational Research Sixth Edition thoroughly addresses the major components of research design and methodology The text is especially useful for inexperienced student researchers and doctoral students in the early stages of preparing a dissertation The early chapters of the text clearly describe the process of selecting a problem reviewing the literature constructing a hypothesis identifying and labeling variables and constructing operational definitions The later chapters assist students in refining methodological procedures analyzing data and writing the final research report The clarity of the text and the numerous practical examples help to reinforce important concepts and key ideas increasing the efficacy of the text for even the most inexperienced student researchers Additionally sample studies are included as models of acceptable published research and serve as a guide against which students may evaluate their own work Changes in New Edition More illustrations tables figures and bulleted lists to enhance understanding More and simpler explanations of complex process A greater balance between the various approaches to research ranging from experimental to qualitative with causal comparative survey and evaluation in between Part I Expanded to include additional ethical considerations when conducting research Part II Renamed Carrying out Fundamental Steps of Research Additional details regarding measurement and observation Expanded discussion of the application of design criteria Part III Renamed Carrying out Quantitative Research Additional chapters on experimental research correlational and causal comparative research survey research and evaluation research Methods of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts James Flood, Diane Lapp, James R.
