Cell And Muscle Motility Volume 4:

Essential Histology David H. Cormack, 2001 The Second Edition presents a compact and concise alternative to the larger histology texts on the market today Great for students with a limited amount of time to devote to the subject Improvements to the art program adding more color and new illustrations have been made to this edition Modern Bioelectrochemistry F. Gutmann, H. Keyzer, 2012-12-06 As stated by Buckminster Fuller in Operation Manual for Spaceship Earth Synergy is the behavior of whole systems unpredicted by separately observed behaviors of any of the system's separate parts In a similar vein one might define an intellectual synergy as an improvement in our understanding of the behavior of a system unpredicted by separately acquired viewpoints of the activities of such a system Such considerations underlie and provide a motivation for an interdisciplinary approach to the problem of unraveling the deeper mysteries of cellular metabolism and organization and have led a number of pioneering spirits many represented in the pages which follow to consider biological systems from an electrochemical standpoint is itself of course an interdisciplinary branch of Now electrochemistry science and there is no doubt that many were introduced to it via Bockris and Reddy's outstanding wide ranging and celebrated textbook Modern Electrochemistry If I am to stick my neck out and seek to define bioelectrochemistry I would take it to refer to the study of the mutual interactions of electrical fields and biological materials including living systems Cytoskeleton A.D. Bershadsky, J.M. Vasiliev, 2012-12-06 This book like other monographs of the Cellular Organelles series is not a comprehensive review but an introduction to the study of cytoskeleton Accordingly we describe only the main facts and concepts related to cytoskeleton Needless to say selection and interpretation was influenced by the personal interests and opinions of the authors although we attempted to be as fair as possible We wished to familiarize the reader not only with well established facts but with current unsolved problems Therefore the words possibly maybe not known and not clear are much more frequent in this text than in many others In accordance with the style of the series relatively short lists of additional readings are given at the end of each chapter these lists contain mostly the recent reviews and a few original papers describing certain phenomena in detail Few references are cited in the text these citations are given to help the reader find the source of certain new data and theories which are not discussed at length in the reviews In contrast many well established facts and widely known theories are not cited Cellular and Molecular Biology of Intermediate Filaments R.D. Goldman, P.M. Steinert, 2013-06-29 Research activity on intermediate filaments IF has increased dramatically over the past decade For the most part this surge of interest is due to their identification as ubiquitous constituents of the cytoskeleton and karyoskeleton nuclear matrix of eukaryotic cells and the fact that we know very little regarding their functions In sharp contrast to the other major cytoskeletal systems microfilaments and microtubules IF exhibit a high degree of heterogeneity with regard to their protein subunit composition Indeed one can only marvel at the number of different IF polypeptides their associated proteins IFAP and consequently the number of genes involved in encoding the multiple constituents of the various IF networks found in different cell types The chapters in this book demonstrate how various experimental approaches involving cellular molecular biochemical and immunological methods have been utilized to generate information regarding the structure and function of IF To this end we have gathered together chapters from experts in the major fields of IF research In each chapter the authors have combined reviews of the available scientific literature with their own ideas on current and future directions for IF research The chapters have been divided into five major sections which are concerned with the subcellular organization of IF the molecular structure of IF the differential expression of IF genes descriptions of associated proteins involved in the intracellular organization of IF and finally an analysis of the changes seen in IF in pathological conditions
