Cellular Function And Metabolism:

Cellular Function and Metabolism Yoshio Yazaki, Seibu Mochizuki, 2012-12-06 A variety of metabolic processes are known to be intimately involved in the maintenance of cellular structure and function. It has also become clear that metabolic events involved in the synthesis and hydrolysis of ATP as well as for the synthesis of proteins and phospholipids are essential for cellular health. The regulation of cell function is generally achieved through participation of a wide variety of hormones and different signal transduction mechanisms for the activation/deactivation of some specific metabolic processes. In this regard, cyclic AMP and calcium seem to play a crucial role. Various hormones are also known to affect the genetic machinery of all the cell; however, the exact signals for genetic control of cellular function are not well defined. In particular, the sequence of events concerned with remodelling of different types of cells under various pathological situations is poorly understood. In this book, we have therefore dealt with some of these issues from biochemical, molecular biological, physiological, and pharmacological viewpoints. Special emphasis has been laid on understanding heart function and metabolism in health and disease in general and cardiac hypertrophy, heart failure, and ischemic heart disease in particular. It is hoped that this multidisciplinary information will be of value to basic scientists and clinical investigators.

Metabolic Modulation of Cellular Function, 2024-03-26 Metabolic pathways and their metabolites are gaining recognition as both sensitive biomarkers for pathological conditions and key modulators of cell fate. In the past, metabolic changes were considered a consequence of gene expression, metabolite control, or environmental changes such as starvation. However, extensive research in the last decade has demonstrated that metabolic changes respond to and influence cellular signaling. This crosstalk between metabolism and cellular signaling is mainly enabled by novel metabolite-mediated modulation of enzymatic activity of rate-limiting steps and post-translational and epigenetic modifications for which metabolites serve as substrates.

Studies Of Cellular Functions Using Radiotracers (1982) Mervyn Billingham, 2017-11-22 This volume is the result of the concerted effort of a number of scientists to summarize in a succinct way the current understanding of the mechanisms of these localizations. The editors of the book gratefully acknowledge this combined effort.

Metabolic and Senescence Characteristics Associated with the Immune Microenvironment in Tumor Cells Yewei Zhang, Houjuan Zhu, Qun Zhao, Chenyu Sun, 2024-04-11 A common feature of cancer metabolism is the ability to obtain essential nutrients from a nutrient-poor environment and use them to maintain viability as well as generate new biomass. Alterations in intracellular and extracellular metabolites can be accompanied by tumor-associated metabolic reprogramming with profound effects on gene expression, cell differentiation, and tumor microenvironment. In these cases, the metabolic microenvironment of the tumor itself can present an immunosuppressive environment that needs to be overcome. Specifically, it will help maximize the efficacy of cancer therapies by identifying targets that suppress or alter cancer metabolism to improve the tumor microenvironment, nutrient availability, or that modulate immune metabolism to bolster inflammation.

Sarcopenia in Aging and in Muscular Dystrophy: A Translational Approach Luciano Merlini, Paolo Bonaldo, Emanuele Marzetti, 2016-01-18 Loss of muscle mass and increased fibrosis characterize both sarcopenia of aging and muscular dystrophy Research is increasingly showing that these two conditions also share several pathophysiological mechanisms including mitochondrial dysfunction increased apoptosis abnormal modulation of autophagy decline in satellite cells increased generation of reactive oxygen species and abnormal regulation of signaling and stress response pathways This Research Topic will cover several mechanisms involved in aging and dystrophic sarcopenia and explore the therapeutic potential of various strategies for intervention
