Beliefs And Believers:

Beliefs and Believers John K. Simmons, 1995 Intended to be a study guide for the 24 videocassette telecourse entitled Beliefs and Believers This college level course examines a plurality of religious bodies and secular political and personal ideologies as they fit into the nature and function of world views 50 Reasons People Give for Believing in a God Guy P. Harrison, 2009-09-18 Many books that challenge religious belief from a skeptical point of view take a combative tone that is almost guaranteed to alienate believers or they present complex philosophical or scientific arguments that fail to reach the average reader This is undoubtedly an ineffective way of encouraging people to develop critical thinking about religion This unique approach to skepticism presents fifty commonly heard reasons people often give for believing in a God and then raises legitimate questions regarding these reasons showing in each case that there is much room for doubt Whether you are a believer a complete skeptic or somewhere in between you will find this review of traditional and more recent arguments for the existence of God refreshing approachable and enlightening From religion as the foundation of morality to the authority of sacred books the compelling religious testimony of influential people near death experiences arguments from Intelligent Design and much more Harrison respectfully describes each rationale for belief and then politely shows the deficiencies that any good skeptic would point out As a journalist who has traveled widely and interviewed many highly accomplished people quite a number of whom are believers the author appreciates the variety of belief and the ways in which people seek to make religion compatible with scientific thought Nonetheless he shows that despite the prevalence of belief in God or religious belief in intelligent people in the end there are no unassailable reasons for believing in a God For skeptics looking for appealing ways to approach their believing friends or believers who are not afraid to consider a skeptical challenge this book makes for very stimulating reading

Convictions Ed Kenerson, 2022-01-30 Trying to understand how God's Spirit moves within us in the process of sanctification is very difficult at best However most people believe that we have three essential functionalities that God has created within each of us which we consciously and unconsciously rely upon to live our lives These functionalities are perspective mind passion desires and emotions and purpose decisive choice and intention It seems that God's Spirit if we are believers works to keep this sequential order in line with his will He rarely chooses to take complete control of us for he wants us to obey him with heart felt love and responsible choice When our inner person is functioning correctly we are living in faith and obedience to the Lord Jesus Functioning correctly means that we are driven by our spiritual convictions those which find their source in the Word of God and are whispered sometimes shouted into our soul by God's Spirit This book is all about finding building and holding on to these critical convictions that the Spirit is working to establish within our minds and hearts I've listed only 24 of them but there are many more These however are key foundational convictions which if consistently maintained will bring great success to our spiritual walk with Jesus Christ I hope you enjoy them and with God's empowerment I know they will help us all to embrace God's love in a profoundly practical and life changing way Ed Kenerson attended Gordon College B A Psychology and Gordon Conwell Seminary Masters of Religious Education and has over 10 years experience in Christian Education and Youth Ministry At present he manages his own training and communications business called Steps To Success delivering multi media presentations to businesses in areas of career management customer service and other important areas of professional development In addition he serves area churches through his teaching ministry Faith Factory Construction Co Ed is married to Kathy with two children Bob and Kerri and ten grandchildren Ethan Hailey Garret Skylar Meadow Marin Sawyer Delaney Carly and Joey

The Gifts of the Holy Spirit to Unbelievers and Believers Clement Read Vaughan, 1894 This treatise does not seek to enlarge the boundaries of Christian knowledge unless the attempt to restate the old familiar truths of the gospel of grace in the forms they have assumed in a re thinking of them under the current modes of thought in the passing era can be so called The object is wholly practical There are no new speculations here The discussion only seeks to extend the applicaion of some of these venerable truths to the practical experience of Christian people and to restate the terms on which the Christian hope may be obtained by those not yet entitled to indulge it Preface Believing by Faith John Bishop, 2007-04-12 Does our available evidence show that some particular religion is correct It seems unlikely given the great diversity of religious and non religious views of the world But if no religious beliefs can be shown true on the evidence can it be right to make a religious commitment Should people make leaps of faith Or would we all be better off avoiding commitments that outrun our evidence And if leaps of faith can be acceptable how do we tell the difference between good and bad ones between sound religion and dogmatic ideology or fundamentalist fanaticism Believing by Faith offers answers to these questions inspired by a famous attempt to justify faith made by William James in 1896 In doing so it engages critically with much recent discussion in the philosophy of religion and especially the epistemology of religious belief

The Law of Faith Joseph Fitz Randolph, 1914

Philosophy for Believers Edward W. H. Vick, 2013-09-23 For a serious book of philosophy where better to begin to canvass various philosophical concepts and arguments than in relation to what is so familiar to every one of us the fact that we all have many and varied beliefs The book is an introduction of philosophy indeed intended as an introductory textbook The author as he wrote it had both the teacher and the student in mind He hopes it will prove a worthy contribution in the college seminary and university classroom both interesting and serious As well as thirteen clearly written chapters introducing the various topics it is also provided with helpful summaries tutorials and work sheets In considering belief we raise raises many of the central problems philosophers have discussed knowledge truth justification rationality meaning explanation self deception interpretation reality cause and effect personal identity theories laws hypotheses the self survival God Since belief is a universal phenomenon it has unfortunately become common to understand the unqualified term believer of the religious person It seems strange to ask the question Are you a believer outside the religious context But we do when we are thinking of a particular theory or ideology or political attitude We sometimes want to know whether she is one of us The author sometimes finds it convenient to illustrate his exposition by referring to religious beliefs One does not have to be a religious believer to see that it is relevant and indeed interesting to do so The history of philosophy provides many classical examples of such discussion The book is of wide general interest As well as doing service in the classroom it will also prove its worth within other contexts It will serve the aims of serious discussion groups as well as providing a basis for regular and earnest individual study We hope also that it will find a place with inquiring people of religious faith
