Disney and distinctly Chinese mandate In order to survive and thrive in China Disney carefully constructs Shanghai Disneyland as Disneyland with Chinese characteristics Previous studies tend to link Disney with cultural imperialism however this book argues that it is not imperialism but glocalization that promotes a global company s interests in China In particular the findings suggest state capital led glocalization glocalization led by economic capital of the state direct investment and economic capital with the state market potential Furthermore the four categories of glocalization with different conditions considerations and consequences illustrate various global local dynamics in the process of a global formation of locality The Glocalization of Shanghai Disneyland will appeal to students and scholars of sociology communication studies business studies and Asian studies more broadly
