Displacement Derrida And After Theories Of Contemporary Culture:

Displacement Mark Krupnick, 1983 The Rhetorics of Feminism Lynne Pearce, 2013-04-15 Is it possible that changes in rhetorical practice could alter not just how thought is expressed but also how it is made Through a close stylistic and rhetorical analysis of contemporary feminist writing from the cultural theory of Judith Butler to the popular journalism of Naomi Wolf and Germaine Greer Lynne Pearce demonstrates how feminist thought is created as well as communicated through the frameworks in which it is presented By linking rhetorical innovation with feminist epistemology in such a direct way this is a book that will be of immense methodological as well as theoretical interest to readers providing valuable insight into the often mysterious processes of conception and composition Biotechnology and Culture Paul E.

Brodwin, 2001-01-22 Essays on technology s effect on our relationship with our bodies A timely and perceptive look at some of the most anxiety producing issues of the day Paul Rabinow University of California Berkeley As birth illness and death increasingly come under technological control struggles arise over who should control the body and define its limits and capacities Biotechnologies turn the traditional facts of life into matters of expert judgment and partisan debate They blur the boundary separating people from machines male from female and nature from culture In these diverse ways they destroy the gold standard of the body formerly taken for granted Biotechnologies become a convenient tangible focus for political contests over the nuclear family legal and professional authority and relations between the sexes Medical interventions also transform intimate personal experience giving birth building new families and surviving serious illness now immerse us in a web of machines expert authority and electronic images We use and imagine the body in radically different ways and from these emerge new collective discourses of morality and personal identity This book brings together historians anthropologists cultural critics and feminists to examine the broad cultural effects of technologies such as surrogacy tissue culture research and medical imaging The moral anxieties raised by biotechnologies and their circulation across class and national boundaries provide other interdisciplinary themes for discourse in these essays The authors favor complex social dramas of the refusal celebration or ambivalent acceptance of new medical procedures Eschewing polemics or pure theory contributors show how biotechnology collides with everyday life and reshapes the political and personal meanings of the body Contributors include Paul Brodwin Lisa Cartwright Thomas Csordas Gillian Goslinga Roy Deborah Grayson Donald Joralemon Hannah Landecker Thomas Laqueur Robert Nelson Susan Squier Janelle Taylor and Alice Wexler This impressive collection offers a number of rich examples of why the development of anthropological studies of science technology and their disruptive social effects is a leading edge of critical enquiry Arthur Kleinman Harvard University Feminist Theories for Dramatic Criticism Gayle Austin, 1990 Looks at post war American drama by women bridging the gap between theatrical theory and feminist theory

Feminism and Territoriality Susanne Hagemann, 2005 Representing Animals Nigel Rothfels, 2002-11-28
Representing Animals explores the complex and often surprising connections between our imagining of animals and our cultural environment The contributors historians literary critics anthropologists artists art historians and scholars of cultural studies examine the ways we talk write photograph imagine and otherwise represent animals The book includes topics such as pet cloning fox hunting animatronic characters and how we displace our fear of aging onto our dogs Representing Animals demonstrates the deep connections between the way we think about animals and the way we have thought about ourselves and our cultures in different times and places Its publication marks a formative moment in the emerging field of animal studies Contributors Steve Baker Marcus Bullock Jane Desmond Erica Fudge Andrew Isenberg Kathleen Kete Akira Mizuta Lippit Teresa Mangum Garry Marvin Susan McHugh and Nigel Rothfels
