Dispute Resolution Negotiation And Consensus Building:

Dispute Resolution Bloomsbury Publishing, 1984-05-30 John Dunlop is one of the world's outstanding figures in the theory and practice of industrial relations. In this book, he advocates a better means to resolve disputes. He stresses that each side must work out its own internal accommodation as a necessary prerequisite to across-the-table resolution.

The Consensus Building Handbook Lawrence Susskind, Sarah McKearnen, Jennifer Thomas-Larmer, 1999-08-09 Whether you work in the corporate world, a nonprofit organization, or the government sector, you likely face the need to work with others to solve problems and make decisions on a daily basis. And you've undoubtedly been frustrated by how laborious and conflict-ridden such group efforts can be. At all levels, from neighborhood block associations to boards of directors of multinational corporations, the consensus building process is highly effective in an increasingly fragmented, contentious society. In addition, the old top-down methods such as Robert's Rules of Order often prompt more problems than they solve. Consensus helps you to implement better, more creative solutions. It provides a winning alternative to top-down decision making and even parliamentary procedure. By learning to build consensus, stakeholders come to understand and respect one another's perspectives. The consensus building process allows participants to find solutions and forge agreements that meet everyone's needs and provides a meaningful basis for effective long-range implementation of decisions. The Consensus Building Handbook provides a blueprint to help make the process work in your organization, including a practical quick-reference Short Guide. Plus, you'll find in-depth commentary and seventeen case studies with in-depth commentaries to provide the theoretical basis for this new approach.

CASE STUDIES INCLUDE: Activating a Policy Network; The Case of Mainport Schiphol; The Northern Oxford County Coalition; Four Maine Towns Tackle a Public Health Mystery; The Chelsea Charter Consensus Process; Resolving Science Intensive Public Policy Disputes; Reflections on the New York Bight Initiative; Negotiation Superfund Cleanup at the Massachusetts Military Reservation; RuleNet: An Experiment in Online Consensus Building; Regulatory Negotiations: The Native American Experience; The Chattanooga Process: A City's Vision Is Realized; From City Hall to the Streets: A Community Plan Meets the Real World; The Catron County Citizens Group: A Case Study in Community Collaboration; Facilitating Statewide HIV/AIDS Policies and Priorities in Colorado; Building Consensus for Change Within a Major Corporation: The Case of Levi Strauss Company.

Multi-Party Dispute Resolution, Democracy and Decision-Making Carrie Menkel-Meadow, 2017-05-15 The articles selected for this volume draw on game theory, political science, psychology, sociology, and anthropology to consider how the process of dispute resolution is altered, challenged, and made more complex by the presence of multiple parties and/or multiple issues. The volume explores issues of coalition formation, defection, collaboration, commitments, voting practices, and joint decision making in settings of increasing human complexity. Also included are examples of concrete uses of deliberative democracy processes taken from new applications of complex dispute resolution theory and practice. The selected essays represent the latest theoretical advances and challenges in the field and demonstrate attempts to use dispute resolution theory in a wide variety of settings such as political decision making and policy formation regulatory matters environmental disputes healthcare community disputes constitutional formation and in many other controversial issues in the polity resolution of land use and other environment economy conflicts The purpose of this report is to describe the underlying premise of the Dispute Resolution Core Group regarding the use of consensus in managing land and resources to present the findings regarding B C s experience on consensus approaches to conflict management to show what lesson can be learned and to offer a guide to consensus processes for use in environment economy conflicts Using Assisted Negotiation to Settle Land Use Disputes Lawrence Susskind,1999 As land use issues become more complex public officials must work harder to balance the contending forces of environmental protection economic development and local autonomy This guidebook developed by the Consensus Building Institute offers step by step advice on assisted negotiation based on a study of 100 local land use disputes It addresses why and how to use assisted negotiation the risks and preparations involved and issues in hiring a professional mediator or facilitator Biodiversity and Ecological Economics Luca Tacconi,2017-09-25 It is vital that we adopt interdisciplinary approaches such as ecological economics to gain an understanding of the values that determine human interaction with and use and abuse of the environment This book is a model of applied ecological economics It presents an accessible introduction to the subject while at the same time broadening its theoretical basis by introducing a post positivist participatory method The theoretical framework is applied to case studies in biodiversity conservation drawn from around the world and a range of different ecosystems The book is a suitable textbook for students of ecological economics and an ideal introduction for scientists and environmentalists needing to understand the role of economics in ecology and conservation Dispute Resolution Forum ,1983 Water as a Catalyst for Peace Ahmed Abukhater,2013-09-05 Examining international water allocation policies in different parts of the world this book suggests that they can be used as a platform to induce cooperation over larger political issues ultimately settling conflicts The main premise is that water can and should be used as a catalyst for peace and cooperation rather than conflict Evidence is provided to support this claim through detailed case studies from the Middle East and the Lesotho Highlands in Africa These international cases including bilateral water treaties and their development and formation process and aftermath are analyzed to draw conclusions about the outcomes as well as the processes by which these outcomes are achieved It is demonstrated that the perception of a particular treaty as being equitable and fair is mainly shaped by the negotiation process used to reach certain outcomes rather than being determined mechanistically by the quantitative allocation of water to each party The processes and perceptions leading to international water conflict resolutions are emphasized as key issues in advancing cooperation and robust implementation of international water treaties The key messages of the book are therefore relevant to the geo political and hydro political aspects of water resources in the context of bilateral and multilateral conflicts and the trans boundary management of water resources which contributes insights to political ecology geo politics and environmental policy Planning and Urban Design Standards American Planning Association,2006-02-03 From the publishers of Architectural Graphic Standards this book created under the auspices of The American Planning
