Dissenting Academy:

The Dissenting Academy Theodore Roszak, 1969 Dissenting Academies in England Irene Parker, 1914 The Dissenting Feminist Academy Gisele Marie Thibault, 1987 This book is a general statement about universities and about the universities response to and interaction with feminism From the late nineteenth century to the current decade feminists have confronted the university structure infiltrated it as they have resisted and rejected it Within the parameters of this tension and contradiction feminist scholarship has paradoxically transformed the nature and content of academe while it has fought against the barriers higher education has imposed to both feminist philosophy and to women In this analysis the author explores how such a contradiction was manifested in the mid to late nineteenth century university in the late 1960 s and in the 1980 s in the modern research university in North America She examines how the university as we know it politically economically and socially implements women s subordination through its institutional polity its academic disciplines and its ideological aerobics in promoting the private public spheres Finally the author boldly suggests that the dissent of feminism offers perhaps the greatest and the most plausible alternative both to the ills which beset the contemporary academy and to the future of academe In a word such an academy must be created or face intellectual extinction not just for women but for humanity

Religious Dissent and the Aikin-Barbauld Circle, 1740-1860 Felicity James, Ian Inkster, 2011-11-03 Recent criticism is now fully appreciating the nuanced and complex contribution made by Dissenters to the culture and ideas of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in Britain This is the first sustained study of a Dissenting family the Aikins from the 1740s to the 1860s Essays by literary critics historians of religion and science and geographers explore and contextualize the achievements of this remarkable family including John Aikin senior tutor at the celebrated Warrington Academy and his children poet Anna Letitia Barbauld and John Aikin junior literary physician and editor The latter s children in turn were leading professionals and writers in the early Victorian era This study provides new perspectives on the social and cultural importance of the family and their circle an untold story of collaboration and exchange and a narrative which breaks down period boundaries to set Enlightenment and Victorian culture in dialogue

The Textual Culture of English Protestant Dissent 1720-1800 Tessa Whitehouse, 2015-12-17 Religious dissenters and their literary and social heritage are the principal subjects of this book At its heart is a group of English men whose activities were local transcontinental and circum Atlantic Drawing on letters lecture notes manuscript accounts of academies and a range of printed texts and paratexts The Textual Culture of English Protestant Dissent 1720-1800 explores the connections between dissent education and publishing in the eighteenth century By considering Isaac Watts and Philip Doddridge in relation to their mentors students friends and readers it emphasizes the importance they and their associates attached to personal relationships in their private interactions and in print It argues that this contributed to a distinctive literary style as well as particular modes of textual production for moderate orthodox dissenters which reached beyond their own community to address and influence global discourses about education enlightenment and history The book s focus on textual culture foregrounds relationships between forms as well as considering texts as they existed in one form or another In examining textual culture this book emphasises adaptation transformation fluidity and communality it approaches the human relationships that make texts including friendships reading communities intellectual exchange and business arrangements with as much care as the content of the texts themselves The book demonstrates that models of family and social authorship among Romantic era dissenters advanced by Michelle Levy Daniel White and Felicity James were rooted in the domestic culture at earlier academies and in the example of members of the Watts Doddridge circle The Dissenting Academy. Science, Philosophy and Religion in the Age of the Enlightenment John Gascoigne,2024-10-28 Taking as its focus the wide ranging character of the Enlightenment both in geographical and intellectual terms this second collection of articles by John Gascoigne explores this movement s filiation and influence in a range of contexts In contrast to some recently influential views it emphasises the evolutionary rather than the revolutionary character of the Enlightenment and its ability to change society by adaptation rather than demolition This it does by reference firstly to developments in Britain tracing the changing views of history in relation to the Biblical account the ideological uses of science and particularly the work of Newton and their connections to developments in moral philosophy and the teaching of science and philosophy in response to Enlightenment modes of thought The collection then turns to the wider global setting of the Enlightenment and the way in which that movement served to provide a justification for European exploration and expansion developments which found one of their most potent embodiments in the diverse uses of mapping The collection concludes with an exploration of the interplay between the experience of Pacific contact and the currents of thought which characterised the Enlightenment in Germany
