Distance Looks Our Way:

Distance Looks Our Way Keith Sinclair, 1961 Leaving the Highway Mark Williams, 2013-10-01 The major New Zealand novelists of the 1980s have begun to receive international acclaim This first critical study of Janet Frame Keri Hulme Witi Ihimaera Maurice Gee Ian Wedde and C K Stead concentrates on their important works to explore how deeply rooted anxieties about New Zealand's cultural situation and national identity are articulated in New Zealand fiction Reflections On How We Live Annette Baier, 2010-01-28 The rights of past and future persons For the sake of future generations Discriminate death dealing who may kill whom and how Can philosophers be patriots Why honesty is a hard virtue postscript Getting in touch with our own feelings How to get to know one's own mind some simple ways The moral perils of intimacy Feelings that matter Demoralization trust and the virtues Sympathy and self trust Putting hope in its place How to lose friends some simple ways Alienating affection Faces and other body parts Other minds jottings towards an intellectual self image Oceania under steam Frances Steel, 2017-02-01 The age of steam was the age of Britain's global maritime dominance the age of enormous ocean liners and human mastery over the seas The world seemed to shrink as timetabled shipping mapped out faster more efficient and more reliable transoceanic networks But what did this transport revolution look like at the other end of the line at the edge of empire in the South Pacific Through the historical example of the largest and most important regional maritime enterprise the Union Steam Ship Company of New Zealand Frances Steel eloquently charts the diverse and often conflicting interests itineraries and experiences of commercial and political elites common seamen and stewardesses and Islander dock workers and passengers Drawing on a variety of sources including shipping company archives imperial conference proceedings diaries newspapers and photographs this book will appeal to cultural historians and geographers of British imperialism scholars of transport and mobility studies and historians of New Zealand and the Pacific Look Back Harder Allen Curnow, 2013-10-01 The collected critical writings of one of New Zealand's major poets and critics covering half a century of his work Of the thirty eight items reviews essays lectures interviews and letters included his controversial introductions to his anthologies of New Zealand verse are the best known There are also incisive essays on Curnow's New Zealand contemporaries and on writers from further afield such as Olson and Thomas For students of English literature particularly of New Zealand New Zealand Politics and Social Patterns Robert McDonald Chapman, Robert Chapman, 1999 Metafiction and the Postwar Novel Andrew Dean, 2021-04-01 Metafiction and the Postwar Novel is a full length reassessment of one of the definitive literary forms of the postwar period sometimes known as postmodern metafiction In the place of large scale theorizing this book centres on the intimacies of writing situations metafiction as it responds to readers literary reception and earlier works in a career The emergence of archival materials and posthumously published works helps to bring into view the stakes of different moments of writing It develops new terms for discussing literary self reflexivity derived from a reading of Don Quixote and its reception by J L Borges the self of writing and the public author as signature Across three comprehensive chapters Metafiction and Postwar Fiction shows how some of the most highly regarded postwar writers were motivated to incorporate reflexive elements into their writing and to what ends The first chapter on South African novelist J M Coetzee shows with a new clarity how his fictions drew from and relativized academic literary theory and the conditions of writing in apartheid South Africa The second chapter on New Zealand writer Janet Frame draws widely from her fictions autobiographies and posthumously published materials It demonstrates the terms in which her writing addresses a readership seemingly convinced that her work expressed the interior experience of madness The final chapter on American writer Philip Roth shows how his early reception led to his later and often explosive reconsiderations of identity and literary value in postwar America

The Making of New Zealanders Ron Palenski,2013-11-01 Examining the development of a sense of national identity in a British colony this highly authoritative work is a valuable addition to the literature in New Zealand By looking at the onset of home grown shipping railway and telegraph networks as well as at the Maori and kiwi experiences not to mention the emergence of rugby teams this book accounts for how transplanted Britons and others turned themselves into New Zealanders a distinct group of people with their own songs and sports symbols and opinions political traditions and sense of self Tracing markers in popular culture political processes and public events this informative and thrilling history focuses on the forging of a distinctive new culture and society

The Story of the Lifu Mission S. Macfarlane,S. McFarlane,1873 Recreation ,1903 Typee : a Narrative of the Marquesas Islands Herman Melville,1907 Enduring Legacy Donald Kerr,2003 A companion not a catalogue to an exhibition of Brasch s 1909 73 collection of manuscripts photographs paintings and books at the University of Otago Library He was a literary editor best known for founding the New Zealand literary journal Landfall Writers critics academics and librarians celebrate his life and work Several paintings are reproduced in colour Pausanias's Description of Greece: Commentary on books VI-VIII: Elis, Achaia, Arcadia Pausânias,1913 The Cornhill Magazine ,1872 The European Magazine and London Review, by the Philological Society of London ,1799 Atkinson's Evening Post, and Philadelphia Saturday News ,1929 Nobody's Boy Hector Malot,1916 Story of a young boy who discovers at the age of eight that he was a foundling When his foster father sends him away he must find a way to survive and also discover his true identity
