A Companion to Global Environmental History J. R. McNeill, Erin Stewart Mauldin, 2015-05-04 The Companion to Global Environmental History offers multiple points of entry into the history and historiography of this dynamic and fast growing field to provide an essential road map to past developments current controversies and future developments for specialists and newcomers alike Combines temporal geographic thematic and contextual approaches from prehistory to the present day Explores environmental thought and action around the world to give readers a cultural intellectual and political context for engagement with the environment in modern times Brings together environmental historians from around the world including scholars from South Africa Brazil Germany and China

A History of Mass Communication Irving Fang, 1997-02-27 This exciting new text traces the common themes in the long and complex history of mass communication It shows how the means of communicating grew out of their eras how they developed how they influenced the societies of those eras and how they have continued to exert their influence upon subsequent generations The book is divided into six periods which are identified as Information Revolutions writing printing mass media entertainment the toolshed which we call home now and the Information Highway In looking at the ways in which the tools of communication have influenced and been influenced by social change A History of Mass Communication provides students of media and journalism with a strong sense of the way their chosen field affects how society functions Providing a broad based approach to media history Dr Fang encourages the reader to take a careful look at where our culture is headed through the tools we use to communicate with one another A History of Mass Communication is not only the most current text on communication history but also an invaluable resource for anyone interested in how methods of communication affect society

History and the Contemporary Novel David Cowart, 1989 Cowart presents a study of international historical fiction since World War II with reflections on the affinities between historical and fictional narrative analysis of the basic modes of historical fiction and readings of a number of historical novels including John Barth's The Sot Weed Factor Marguerite Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian Russell Hoban's Riddley Walker Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale Giuseppe Tomasi Di Lampedusa's The Leopard D M Thomas's The White Hotel William Faulkner's Go Down Moses and Umberto Eco's The Name of the Rose He proposes recognizing four modes of the historical novel the past as a distant mirror of the present fictions whose authors seek to pinpoint the precise historical moment when the modern age or some prominent feature of it came into existence fictions whose authors aspire purely or largely to historical verisimilitude and fictions whose authors reverse history to contemplate utopia and dystopia in the future Thus historical fiction can be organized under the rubrics The Distant Mirror The Turning Point The Way It Was and The Way It Will Be This fourfold schema and his focus on postwar novels set Cowart's work apart from previous studies which have not devoted adequate space to the contemporary historical novel Cowart argues that postwar historical fiction merits more extensive treatment because it is the product of an age unique in the annals of history an age in which history itself may end Survey of Historic Costume Phyllis G. Tortora, Keith Eubank, 2009-06-08 In the Preface of the 5th Edition of Survey of Historic Costume Tortora and Eubank conclude with the following In the history of dress at the beginning of the 21st century costume might be compared to a constantly moving river This river divides into many narrower channels that separate cross come together and separate again and yet that river continually moves on Building on the previous editions the authors update their analysis of Western dress to 2008 Survey of Historic Costume has from its beginnings taken seriously the need to accompany the text with appropriate illustrations and the major change in the 5th Edition is the move to full color throughout the book to enrich the text and the concepts Perfect for anyone interested in historic costume fashion textiles drama and design this beautifully illustrated book is full of interesting facts and commentary New to this Edition Over 500 four color photographs and illustrations Updated text to 2008 Additional influences from one period or civilization to another including influences from other cultures Index updated and organized to be utilized as glossary with terms defined and page numbers printed in boldface Instructor s Guide provides sources for visuals websites teaching strategies and evaluation techniques PowerPoint Presentation contains interactive visual presentation with links to Internet
