

LOKURAH

A person wearing a traditional red and white headpiece and a green and white outfit is seated on a large, dark, spherical object that resembles a globe or a large stone. The person is positioned in the center of the frame, with their hands resting on their lap. The background is a dark, industrial-looking environment with a bright, golden light source behind the person, creating a strong silhouette effect. The walls of the environment are covered in intricate, repeating patterns, possibly architectural details or graffiti. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and dramatic.

Distorted Truth:

Worldview Theory, Whiteness, and the Future of Evangelical Faith Jacob Alan Cook, 2021-09-28 The twenty first century has seen energy passing between religious and political worldviews kicking up dust around the identity and conviction based fault lines in American society While many evangelical Christians have developed and deployed a worldview theory to describe and locate themselves within the world s ideological strife Jacob Cook argues this approach has in effect compelled those listening to adopt the world s divisive modes of dealing with difference rather than living out a compelling alternative As a popular framework for theology in recent history world viewing has driven its white evangelical adherents to narrate human lives in this world including their own in ways that warp Christian identity as a personal social and theological reality Through close studies of key white evangelical leaders who utilized the worldview concept for political engagement and cultural transformation over the last century Cook reveals why worldview theory is inept for grasping real human complexity and moreover how it forms a barrier to genuine life together as creatures in a world only the living God can really view In between these studies he draws from current conversations in psychology sociology critical race studies and other fields to deliver a vigorous critique of the worldview concept and its use as well as its underlying impulse and to unmask what world viewing shares with the history and spirit of whiteness This book is for those wrestling with the relationship between Christianity and whiteness in America how the dynamics of whiteness have become transparent and thus contentions and where to go from here if one is to follow Jesus

Searle and Foucault on Truth C. G. Prado, 2006 This book compares John Searle and Michel Foucault s radically opposed views on truth in order to demonstrate the need for invigorating cross fertilization between the analytic and Continental philosophical traditions By pressing beyond familiar clich s about analytic philosophy and postmodernism a surprising convergence of Searle and Foucault s thought on truth emerge Prado rebuts the analytic impression of Michel Foucault as a radical relativist and shows that Foucault not only is a realist but also is much closer than many imagine to John Searle and Donald Davidson both model analytic thinkers

My Life My Pain Steve Saintus, 2023-02-06 My Life My Pain was meant to be strictly an autobiography about personal struggles and triumphs of a young man who broke his family dynasty of voodoo priests to become a Christian From his voodoo priest father who tried to kill him and his son to being poisoned by a witch to his puckish uncle who impeded him becoming an engineer to his colleagues of pastors who undermined his ministry with one who tried to kill him by sending an evil spirit on him to his business partner who stabbed him while he was asleep Steve s life has juxtaposed the power of darkness with the superior power of God Amidst an illness Steve was taken to heaven and given a message for the church The message deserves the attention of every Christian 1 1
