District Officer George W. L. Townsend, 1968      Papers Relating to District Officer: from Untamed New Guinea to Lake Success, 1921-46, 1967 Papers relating to the publication of District Officer from untamed New Guinea to Lake Success 1921-46 1968 by G W L Townsend including a first edition of the book from the library of Paul McGuire five letters to McGuire from Judy Tudor the book's publisher and Lynette Townsend the author's wife and a newspaper clipping

Rabaul's Forgotten Fleet Monica Foster, Peter Stone, 1994 Exploration of sunken Japanese ships and other materiel from World War II in the Rabaul region of Papua New Guinea      Plumes from Paradise Pamela Swadling, Roy Wagner, Billai Laba, 2019 The natural resources of New Guinea and nearby islands have attracted outsiders for at least 5000 years spices aromatic woods and barks resins plumes sea slugs shells and pearls all brought traders from distant markets Among the most sought after was the bird of paradise Their magnificent plumes bedecked the hats of fashion conscious women in Europe and America provided regalia for the Kings of Nepal and decorated the headdresses of Janissaries of the Ottoman Empire Plumes from Paradise tells the story of this interaction and of the economic political social and cultural consequence for the island's inhabitants It traces 400 years of economic and political history culminating in the plume boom of the early part of the 20th century when an unprecedented number of outsiders flocked to the island's coasts and hinterlands The story teems with the variety of people involved New Guineans Indonesians Chinese Europeans hunters traders natural historians and their collectors officials missionaries planters miners adventurers of every kind In the wings were the conservationists whose efforts brought the slaughter of the plume boom to an end and ushered in an era of comparative isolation for the island that lasted until World War II      In Colonial New Guinea Naomi M. McPherson, 2001 Because Papua and New Guinea were administered by Germany Britain and Australia at different points in their history the experiences of the island's indigenous inhabitants were diverse and sometimes contradictory In Colonial New Guinea provides an anthropological view of colonialism and its culture in Papua New Guinea The rich and nuanced set of testimonies and reflections upon which the contributors draw enable a broad range of historical personae to comment on the reality of colonial life What emerges is a detailed ethnography that offers new perspectives not only on the history of Papua New Guinea but also on colonialism in general Book jacket      Irony in Action James Fernandez, Mary Taylor Huber, 2001-06 Irony today extends beyond its classification as a figure of speech and is increasingly recognized as one of the major modes of human experience This idea of irony as an integral force in social life is at the center of this provocative book The result of a meeting where anthropologists were invited to explore the politics of irony and the moral responsibilities that accompany its recognition this book is one of the first to lend an anthropological perspective to this contemporary phenomenon The first group of essays explores the limits to irony's liberating qualities from the constrained use of irony in congressional hearings to its reactive presence amid widening disparities of wealth despite decades of world development The second section presents irony's more positive dimensions through an array of examples such as the use of irony by Chinese writers and Irish humorists Framed by the editors theoretical introduction to the issues posed by irony and responses to the essays by two literary scholars Irony in Action is a timely contribution in the contemporary reinvention of anthropology New Guinea Under the Germans Stewart Firth,1983 Oceanic Encounters Margaret Jolly,Serge Tcherkézoff,Darrell Tryon,2009-07-01 This volume the result of ongoing collaborations between Australian and French anthropologists historians and linguists explores encounters between Pacific peoples and foreigners during the longue dur e of European exploration colonisation and settlement from the sixteenth century to the twentieth century It deploys the concept of encounter rather than the more common idea of first contact for several reasons Encounters with Europeans occurred in the context of extensive prior encounters and exchanges between Pacific peoples manifest in the distribution of languages and objects and in patterns of human settlement and movement The concept of encounter highlights the mutuality in such meetings of bodies and minds whereby preconceptions from both sides were brought into confrontation dialogue mutual influence and ultimately mutual transformation It stresses not so much prior visions of strangers or others but the contingencies in events of encounter and how senses other than vision were crucial in shaping reciprocal appraisals But a stress on mutual meanings and interdependent agencies in such cross cultural encounters should not occlude the tumultuous misunderstandings political contests and extreme violence which also characterised Indigenous European interactions over this period Dark Waters, Starry Skies Jeffrey Cox,2023-03-02 Esteemed Pacific War historian Jeffrey Cox has produced a fast paced and absorbing read of the crucial New Georgia phase of the Guadalcanal Solomons Campaign during the Pacific War Thousands of miles from friendly ports the US Navy had finally managed to complete the capture of Guadalcanal from the Japanese in early 1943 Now the Allies sought to keep the offensive momentum won at such a high cost Determined not to repeat their mistakes at Guadalcanal the Allies nonetheless faltered in their continuing efforts to roll back the Japanese land air and naval forces Dark Waters Starry Skies is an engrossing history which weaves together strategy and tactics with a blow by blow account of every battle at a vital point in the Pacific War that has not been analyzed in this level of detail before Using first hand accounts from both sides this book vividly recreates all the terror and drama of the nighttime naval battles during this phase of the Solomons campaign and the ferocious firestorm many Marines faced as they disembarked from their landing craft The reader is transported to the bridge to stand alongside Admiral Walden Ainsworth as he sails to stop another Japanese reinforcement convoy for New Georgia and vividly feels the fear of an 18 year old Marine as he fights for survival against a weakened but still determined enemy Papua New Guinean History & Politics Gregory Philip Jones,1975 Telling Pacific Lives Vicki Luker,Brij V. Lal,2008-06-01 This volume of essays is an exploration of the way in which scholars from different disciplines standpoints and theoretical orientations attempt to write life stories in the Pacific It is the product of a conference organised by the Division of Pacific and Asian History at The Australian National University in December 2005 The aim of the conference was to explore ways in which Pacific lives are read and constructed through a variety of media films fiction fact history under four overarching themes The first Framing Lives sought to explore various ways of constructing a life from a classic western perspective of birth formation experiences and death of an individual to other ways for example life as secondary to a longer genealogical entity life as a symbol of collective experience individual lives captured and fragmented in a mosaic of others lives made meaningful by their implication in a particular historical or cultural web the underlying values and world views that inform one or another approach to framing a life The second theme the Stuff of Life looked at materials methods and collaborative arrangements with which the biographer autobiographer and recorder work their objectives constraints inspirations challenges and tricks The third section Story Lines focused on formats and genres such as edited diaries collections of writings voice recordings genres of biography autobiography truth and fiction verse dance novels and the varieties and different advantages of narrative shapes that crystallise the telling of a life The final section Telling Lives Changing Lives focused on biography autobiography and the consciousness of identity history purpose lives as witness and windows telling lives as change for those involved in the tale the telling the listening The overall aim was to bring out both the generic or universal challenges of telling lives as well as to highlight the particular tendencies and trends in the Pacific Yet these four themes which seemed analytically promising at the outset proved in practice difficult to disentangle from the presentations at the workshop Provided by publisher *New Guinea Area Languages and Language Study: Language, culture, society, and the modern world. 2 v.
