Christopher J. Lee, Andrew Offenburger

District Six:

Language in Cape Town's District Six Kay McCormick, 2002 The book is a sociolinguistic case study of District Six an inner city neighbourhood in Cape Town characterized by language mixing and switching of English and Afrikaans Its early inhabitants included indigenous people freed slaves of African and Asian origin and immigrants from Europe and elsewhere The ravages of apartheid affected the residents attitudes towards their languages in various ways which are described The book examines the norms and practices regarding language choice for various functions and domains in the only surviving sector of District Six It also contains detailed analyses of extended bilingual conversations showing a range of social linguistic and discourse features Of particular interest is the paradoxical polarization and blending of the two languages They are strongly polarized symbolically and functionally yet they are also habitually blended in vernacular speech through lexical borrowing and intrasentential language switching This paradox has interesting implications for the construction of individual community and language identity

Colonial Heritage and Urban Transformation in the Global South Christian Ernten, 2021-10-27 This book traces and analyses the role of heritage in the urban transformation of the city of Cape Town By looking at discourses of heritage and urban design the book shows how Cape Town positions itself as an emerging global city in the context of a series of global events The book points at how a heritage focus on the themes of post colonial and post apartheid reconciliation restitution and memory in the city shifts to a focus on creativity design and the arts Thereby showing how traumatic remnants of colonialism and apartheid are reframed as design challenges Furthermore it argues that the idea of a transformed society is projected into a future time and the chaotic present everyday life is left to its own devices Against this backdrop the book lays out the opportunities for epistemological reset and decolonial reflection on the city's deep histories its embedded injustices and traumas that surfaced

Rethinking South Africa's Past Christopher J. Lee, Andrew Offenburger, 2025-03-18 This book presents key historical scholarship published in Safundi from 1999 to 2024 tracing South Africa's past through approaches of comparative history transnational history and visual history in addition to addressing the importance of topics like gender labor and class dynamics as well as regional historiographies The first section of the book focuses on comparative history as a founding method for Safundi given the journal's origins in American and South African studies while also recalibrating this approach through a variety of topics cities biographies and practices of violence rather than nation states writ large Drawing upon innovative sources of evidence the second section moves beyond the comparative method to address transnational histories as a new narrative technique for storytelling and analysis Whether issues of education immigration or visiting musicians to South Africa these chapters demonstrate the importance of a post national approach for understanding the past The sections that follow fan out into other subject areas including the uses of visual history gender roles class cultures and environmental history all of which illuminate connections between South African history and other parts of the world This book will be an indispensable resource for scholars students activists and policymakers as well as those readers who are generally interested in understanding South Africa's complex history over the past several centuries Fish and Game Code California,1915
