Kyriakidou,2025-04-24 Artificial intelligence AI is rapidly transforming the world of work but how does it impact diversity equity and inclusion DEI AI and Diversity in a Datafied World of Work addresses the critical question of whether AI will create more inclusive workplaces or exacerbate existing inequalities Addressing Bias, Embracing Diversity, and Promoting Equity in Global Multicultural Education Rubbi Nunan, Julie Shantone,Charamba, Erasmios,2026-01-22 Education systems around the world are increasingly shaped by cultural and linguistic diversity yet many continue to rely on monolingual and exclusionary pedagogies that perpetuate inequities Addressing issues of bias systemic bias systemic injustice and the lingering effects of colonial education is essential for creating learning environments where all students can thrive By recognizing diversity as a resource rather than a barrier inclusive learning practices can help students access knowledge more fully improve academic outcomes and foster social cohesion Such approaches not only benefit individual learners but also strengthen societies by preparing citizens who can address the complex challenges of the 21st century Addressing Bias Embracing Diversity and Promoting Equity in Global Multicultural Education explores the intersection of local and global perspectives in education focusing on enhancing multicultural competency within the classroom It empowers teachers to implement inclusive pedagogies that address diverse cultural needs fostering an environment where all students feel valued and understood Covering topics such as artificial intelligence early childhood education and work integrated learning this book is an excellent resource for educators teacher educators pre service teachers postgraduate students lecturers administrators policymakers curriculum developers researchers and more Diversity and the Recreation Profession Maria Teresa Allison,Ingrid Eleanore Schneider,2000 Essays dealing with incorporating diversity into recreational programs and practices Cultural Diversity Catherine D. Fyock,1993-01-01 This innovative four module series is designed to introduce managers to the issues surrounding current workforce diversity challenges Illinois Technograph ,1962 Cultural Diversity and Disability Mariellen Laucht Kuehn,1998 Diversity Bruce L. Bauer,2010 Student Diversity and the Emerging Workforce Ronald W. Shearon,1990 Impact of Age and Gender Diversity on Employee Performance in an Organisation. A Case Study of Zambia Compulsory Standards Agency Michael Mulenga,2019-08-28 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources Miscellaneous language English abstract The purpose of the study was to determine the impact of age and gender diversity on employee performance in an organisation A descriptive research design was adopted with Zambia Compulsory Standards Agency ZCSA being the focus organisation The target population comprised a total of 103 employees from various units of the institution Stratified random sampling technique was used to draw a sample size of 50 respondents from various hierarchical levels The main data collection instruments were an open and close ended questionnaire and an interview guide A set of descriptive statistics including frequencies percentages the mean and standard deviation were used to generate tables bar graphs and pie charts to present the results of the study using SPSS version18 The key findings of the study were that both age and gender diversity have a bearing on the performance of an employee and ultimately on the organisation Findings show that employees felt comfortable working with either older or younger employees Others felt positive about being involved in teams that consist of employees with varying ages as this improves their performance The study found that gender diversity has a high predictive power on employee performance On the other hand organisations that create an inclusive environment for all employees irrespective of gender and create policies that eliminate discrimination from the workplace can benefit from gender diversity A significant relationship between gender diversity and work performance has shown that employees like to work with the opposite gender so long as they can carry out their job professionally The study concluded that age diversity is a very crucial resource for firms that intend to have sustainable workforce It also argues that gender diversity is a vital factor for organisational performance The study findings show that age diversity is a very crucial resource for organisations that intend to maintain a sustainable workforce By allowing the establishment of a leadership pipeline age diversity not only facilitates the creation of a pool of competent employees but allows the organisation to sustain its way of doing business including best practices
