Beneath Whose Hand:

Beneath Whose Hand Reginald Murray Williams, 1997 R M Williams bushman grazier folk hero raconteur in fact one of the great legends of our time This is his story He left home in his teens and went bush For months he trekked through the deserts and ranges of Central Australia as the camel man of a two man expedition He then worked as a drover The sale of a handmade pack saddle to Sir Sidney Kidman for five pounds was the beginning of a business which grew rapidly Soon bushmen from all over Australia were sending cash with order for R M s classic elastic sided boots and other products The mail order business made him wealthy and positioned him as a household name throughout the bush Always restless and enterprising R M has never been content to just be a businessman The bush is his greatest love and throughout his life he has remained as close to it as possible droving running cattle stations and breeding and training horses From gold mining in the Northern Territory to tea planting in the New Guinea Highlands publishing poetry and establishing the Stockman s Hall of Fame R M Williams has earned his place as a hero of the Australian bush Beneath Whose Hand Reginald Murray
