Riding with Death Jana Evans Brazier, 2017-06-22 On the southern end of the Grand Rue a major thoroughfare that runs through the center of Port au

Prince waits the Haitian capital's automobile repair district. This veritable junkyard of steel and rubber recycled parts, old tires and scrap metal might seem an unlikely foundry for art. Yet on the street's opposite end thrives the Grand Rue Galerie, a working studio of assembled art and sculptures wrought from the refuse. Established by artists Andr Eug ne and Jean H rard Celeur in the late 1990s, the Grand Rue's urban environmental aesthetics defined by motifs of machinic urbanism, Vodou bricolage, the postprimitivist, altermodern and performative politics radically challenge ideas about consumption, waste and environmental hazards, as well as consider innovative solutions to these problems in the midst of poverty, insufficient social welfare, lack of access to arts education and basic needs. In Riding with Death, Jana Evans Braziel explores the urban environmental aesthetics of the Grand Rue sculptors and the beautifully constructed sculptures they have designed from salvaged automobile parts, rubber tires, carved wood and other recycled materials. Through first person accounts and fieldwork, Braziel constructs an urban ecological framework for understanding these sculptures amid environmental degradation and grinding poverty. Above all, Braziel presents Haitian artists who live on the most challenged Caribbean island yet who thrive as creators, reinventing refuse as art and resisting the abjection of their circumstances.

Citizenship as Politics, 2009-01-01. This book holds two main concepts: citizenship and adult education, and presents a diverse scope of ideas and experiences from different countries and perspectives in a rich indication to edify liberating practices and researches. Citizenship is closely linked with participation. When people are encouraged to take part in an authentic process of decision making, people do participate in public affairs. Here is the true meaning of citizenship related to the old idea to take part to get involved in public issues and transform their community through participation. On the other hand, Lifelong Learning's concepts and practices seem to have forgotten that adult education is more than the preparation for a job. Adult education is learning for democracy, researching communities, searching for a school for all, transforming communities, struggling for our rights, becoming awareness about environmental hazards, edifying the city or expressing ourselves through theatre or public art. Lifelong Learning's concepts and practices seem to have forgotten that life is more than the labour market. The entire life of women and men are the substance of what adult education is made of. The book is not only addressed to scholars, under and postgraduate students interested in citizenship and adult education, but also to practitioners working in communities in a participatory way.

Cultural Heritage Beyond the "state", Chiara De Cesari, 2008.

Africa in Fragments, Moses E. Ochonu, 2014. Africa in Fragments is one of a few texts to tackle many topics on the position and challenges of Africa, its peoples and its diaspora in the world today. It is part of a new genre that makes old and new academic debates on the problems and predicaments of Africanness accessible to a broad spectrum of audiences while outlining and defending the author's own compelling arguments. This book is also one of a few texts breaking new ground by bringing nation, continent and diaspora into conversation. It weaves together analyses of Nigerian, African and global African topics in an informed but polemical style, challenges readers to rethink their preconceptions on the topics and offers profoundly new

 Montaigne and the Art of Free-thinking Richard Scholar,2017 Why read Montaigne today Richard Scholar argues that Montaigne whose essays were read by Shakespeare and remain a landmark of European culture is above all a masterful exponent of the art of free thinking Montaigne invites his readers to follow the twists and turns of his mind and challenges them to embark on an inner adventure of their own Free thinking is an art every bit as difficult to practice today as it was in sixteenth century France but it remains equally crucial to a fulfilled life and to a healthy body politic and Montaigne offers his readers a master class in that art Globalizing Rights Matthew J. Gibney,2003 Contents The Oxford Amnesty
