The Divine Office E. J. Quigley, 2008-02 Rev Quigley has written an in depth description of the Breviary It is an excellent text for college students or anyone else wanting to learn more about the church Quigley believed that before ordination it is essential to spend a great deal of time on dogmatic and moral theology Quigley states in his preface Certain subjects such as liturgy are always in danger of being shortened or of occupying a very small space in a college course After ordination priests find that these subjects are things of daily and hourly interest and importance Who is it that does not know that the study of the Mass and the Missal of the Breviary its history and its contents are studies useful in his daily offering of sacrifice and praise When talking about his hopes for young students Quigley further states It may assist them to know and love the official prayers of the Church and may help to form devout habits of recitation so that when the obligation of the daily office is imposed on them they may recite it digne attente et devote The texts and intentions may be an aid to them and to students in Holy Orders in the great and glorious work of pious prayer The Divine Office Catholic Church,1975 The Divine Office E. J. J. Quigley,2014-01-17 The most important prayer that the Church offers to Almighty God after the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is the Officium Divinum or Divine Office contained in a liturgical book called the Breviarium Romanum or Roman Breviary In fact the Mass is part of the Divine Office and they are so intertwined in the public liturgy of the Church that one is really incomplete without the other This same Office is chanted by monks in traditional monasteries and nuns in traditional convents and is recited by members of lay orders and devout Catholic faithful To give praise and glory to God throughout the hours of the day in the name of the Church the clergy are placed under the duty of praying it daily From this fact it is called the Office the word in this sense coming from the Latin word officium meaning duty Recent popes like Pope St Pius X and Pope Pius XII have encouraged the laity to participate in saying the Office as well and for this reason have bestowed rich indulgences upon those of the faithful who do so The Divine Office itself is made up of the 150 psalms of the Old Testament so divided throughout the seven days of the week that all the psalms are recited in one week The psalms the divinely inspired poetical prayers principally of King David have always been the center of the Church s liturgical worship just as they were at the temple during Old Testament times Besides the psalms there are readings from Sacred Scripture commentaries on Sacred Scripture from the Fathers and Doctors of the Church and short accounts of the lives of the Saints These readings follow the Church s calendar of liturgical seasons and feasts of the Saints St Vincent de Paul 1581 1660 tells us that the Divine Office is the school of all virtues The master who teaches us in it is the Holy Ghost the source of all truth it is also the Prophets Apostles and Saints of God The Divine Office is divided into eight Hours according as God is to be praised continuously throughout the hours of the day If one observes the ancient times Matins and Lauds are prayed before sunrise Prime Terce Sext and None are prayed during the first third sixth and ninth hours of daylight For example Scripture tells us that Our Lord hung on the cross from the sixth to the ninth hour that is from 12 00 to 15 00 Vespers is said as dusk falls followed by Compline which completes the day and the cycle of hours However the Hours may be said at any time at one s convenience The Divine Office: Explanation of the

Psalms and Canticles Saint Alphonsus de Liguori, Aeterna Press, This difficult work composed at so advanced an age amidst sufferings almost continual and numerous occupations excited at Naples the admiration of learned men According to Canon Massa professor of theology and ecclesiastical examiner the author in his work explains so skilfully the sense and the obscure passages of the psalms that without taking anything from the purity of the inspired word he aids both the heart and the mind of those that read it The Holy See has frequently praised and recommended all the works of St Alphonsus but the decree of March 23 1871 which conferred on St Alphonsus the title of Doctor of the Church makes special mention of this work speaking of it as one of his most useful and salutary works The decree says He St Alphonsus has made clear dark passages of the Holy Scriptures both in his ascetic writings which are freighted with a celestial odor and in a most salutary commentary in which for the nourishment of piety and the instruction of the soul he has given expositions of the Psalms as well as of the Canticles for the benefit especially of those obliged to its recitation Aeterna Press The Sacrifice of Praise Vilma Gertrude Little, 1957 The School of Prayer John Brook, 1992 Anyone seeking a more complete prayer life eventually comes up against the Divine Office a formidable obstacle for the uninitiated Here is a clear simple and complete introduction that will guide anyone wishing to take up morning evening and night prayer from the Divine Office The basic principle of the Office is explained and the method of putting the principle into practice is detailed With the Office providing both the words and the discipline a consistent prayer life based on the Divine Office can be built Pocket sized with ribbon marker The 1942 Divine Office Jacob Criostoir, 2019-01-30 Second only to the Holy Mass in which the Most Blessed Eucharist is consecrated for God's Church the Divine Office has been traditionally considered to be the most important and holy of spiritual practices The Divine Office is based upon old Hebrew tradition of praying to God seven times per day While this may seem similar to the Muslim practice of praying five times per day our tradition dates back much further The first recorded use of the Divine Office as we Catholics would know it was in roughly 80 AD where the Roman historian Pliny the Younger noticed that Christians would set aside parts of the day to pray the Our Father and Psalms By the third and fourth centuries Church Fathers began to incorporate prayers and lessons into the traditional Hebrew prayer hours These prayer hours are mentioned in the Gospels and in the book of Acts but the Divine Offices creation can be attributed to the early monastic communities in both Europe and the Middle East The divine office considered from a devotional point of view, from the Fr., ed. by E.L. Taunton Nicolas Louis Bacuez, 1886 Daily Prayer in the Early Church Paul F. Bradshaw, 2008-10-01 In liturgical study and especially in English liturgical study the subject of the daily office has always been something of the poor relation writes the author in his preface This volume aims to do something to fill that gap It begins with a detailed examination of the Jewish background and of the practice of daily prayer in the first three centuries of the Church and goes on to trace the evolution of the divine office in both its monastic and secular forms in East and West down to the time of St Benedict Intended as a replacement for The Influence of the Synagogue upon the Divine Office by C W

Dugmore Alcuin Club Collection No 45 it not only incorporates the results of recent research by continental scholars and others but also challenges traditional assumptions at a number of important points offering a fresh interpretation of the evidence The Divine Office John A. Liturgy and ritual,1974 Dedicated to God Abbie Reese,2014 In the second decade of the twenty first century Catholicism appears under siege Reporters fixate on drama accusations investigations the selection of a new pope They ignore the inner story the very reason why the church has survived from the Roman Empire s persecution through Renaissance splendor to the present day This is the story of a search for truth peace and salvation a story of selfless dedication that continues behind monastic walls even in our time In Dedicated to God Abbie Reese opens a window onto the Corpus Christi Monastery of the Poor Clare Colettine Order a community of cloistered monastic nuns living within a 25 000 square foot enclosure near Rockford Illinois It is a world apart from our noisy digital hyper connected world a world of poverty simplicity and prayer These women have surrendered everything their names shoes even their families They disappear from the larger world when one dies the order marks her grave with a simple stone indicating religious name and death date nothing more While they live they pray five times a day at the Liturgy of the Hours for the victims of catastrophes and personal tragedies around the globe The author spent six years learning their individual stories and the ancient rules they have chosen to live by Reese makes that choice understandable showing how each nun s values led her there even if families were sometimes befuddled one great niece calls the monastery the Jesus cage With an eye for complexity Reese ranges from the challenges individuals face she calls one the claustrophobic nun to the uncomprehending society that threatens this place with extinction
