

A large, modern sign for Cairns Australia is the central focus. The sign is a dark blue rectangle with the word "CAIRNS" in large, white, bold, sans-serif capital letters. Below it, the word "AUSTRALIA" is written in smaller, white, spaced-out capital letters. The sign is supported by two tall, silver, cylindrical poles. The poles are topped with large, stylized, metallic sculptures that resemble the fronds of palm trees or the wings of a bird, extending outwards and upwards. The background shows a clear blue sky, a line of green trees, and a multi-story building with a blue roof. In the foreground, a large, shallow pool of bright blue water is visible, with several people swimming and playing. The overall scene is bright and sunny, suggesting a tropical or coastal location.

Supreme Court, 1921 Apospasmata Sacra, Or A Collection of Posthumous and Orphan Lectures Lancelot Andrewes, 1657 The Land of Cain Philip Resnick, 1977 THE LAND OF CAIN is the first book length study of English Canadian nationalism in the post World War II period Approaching the subject from a Marxist perspective the author sets out to examine the class basis of nationalism in English Canada since the war He first reconstructs through the use of tax census and similar data a picture of the contemporary class structure of Canada with particular attention to the big bourgeoisie the smaller bourgeoisie the traditional petty bourgeoisie the new petty bourgeoisie and the working class In the historical chapters that follow he then examines shifting class positions with respect to nationalism during the three decades 1945 1975 Emphasis is placed throughout on the changing fortunes of American imperialism in explaining first the eclipse and then the emergence of an English Canadian nationalism Careful attention is also paid to the impact of Quebec nationalism since 1960 on English Canada Publisher Annual Report of the Crown Land Department of the Province of New Brunswick New Brunswick. adding them to the small list of names predating the Scandinavian period 9th 13th centuries As documentary material from that time to the 16th century is largely absent the testimony of placenames is important for the distribution of name elements reflecting the topography and patterns of settlement and for the development of Manx Gaelic during that period It also helps to contribute towards comparative placename study in adjacent areas particularly Ireland southwest Scotland and northwest England
