Capacity Building in National Environmental Policy Helmut Weidner, Martin Jänicke, 2013-03-09 This book is the second collection of systematic case studies describing national environmental policies in 17 countries in terms of capacity building see Appendix The OECD defines environmental capacity building as a society's ability to identify and solve environmental problems While various institutions including UNEP FAO World Bank and OECD have hitherto used the terms environmental capacity and capacity building almost exclusively with reference to developing countries we have extended the concepts to industrialized countries as well The first collection edited by Martin Jänicke Helge Joergens both Free University Berlin and Helmut Weidner Social Science Research Center Berlin was published in 1997 under the title National Environmental Policies A Comparative Study of Capacity Building Berlin etc Springer Verlag It included 13 studies of countries As in the first volume chapter I presents the conceptual framework underlying the national case studies It is a slightly shorter version of the corresponding chapter in volume I The design of all case studies in the two volumes is largely congruent with this conceptual framework Although the various sections of the studies do not always have identical titles and subtitles the central elements of the capacity building approach have been applied in all cases National

Environmental Policies Martin Jänicke, Helmut Weidner, 2012-12-06 This book is a collection of systematically prepared case studies describing the environmental policy of thirteen countries in terms of capacity building Capacity for environmental policy and management as the concept is used in this volume has been defined broadly as a society's ability to devise and implement solutions to environmental issues as part of a wider effort to achieve sustainable development OECD Since the late 1960s capacity building in environmental policy and management can be observed across the world It may have made insufficient progress as yet from an environmentalist point of view but it has produced some remarkable results and not only in the industrialised world In the first chapter we present the conceptual framework that underlies the national case studies In the course of our research project the authors of the book met together twice to discuss this framework in the light of the national experiences and to harmonise their approaches In this way we have tried to offer more than a collection of individual and incoherent case studies focusing only on specific environmental problems institutions actors or instruments The idea behind this book is to give a systematic comparative overview of the fundamental conditions under which environmental policies is practised in selected countries Greening Development Enhancing Capacity for
