Old and New World Highland Bagpiping John G. Gibson,2002-05-22 The work is the result of over thirty years of oral fieldwork among the last Gaels in Cape Breton for whom piping fit unself consciously into community life as well as an exhaustive synthesis of Scottish archival and secondary sources Reflecting the invaluable memories of now deceased new world Gaelic lore bearers John Gibson shows that traditional community piping in both the old and new world G ihealtachlan was and for a long time remained the same exposing the distortions introduced by the tendency to interpret the written record from the perspective of modern post eighteenth century bagpiping Following up the argument in his previous book Traditional Gaelic Bagpiping 1745 1945 Gibson traces the shift from tradition to modernism in the old world through detailed genealogies focusing on how the social function of the Scottish piper changed and step dance piping progressively disappeared Old and New World Highland Bagpiping will stir controversy and debate in the piping world while providing reminders of the value of oral history and the importance of describing cultural phenomena with great care and detail
