Black Meets White:

The Media in Black and White Everette Dennis, 2020-03-24 The media's treatment of and interaction with race like race itself is one of the most sensitive areas in American society Whether its coverage and treatment of racial matters or racial connections inside media organizations themselves mass communication is deeply involved with race The Media in Black and White brings together twenty journalists and scholars of various racial backgrounds to grapple with a controversial issue the role that media industries from advertising to newspapers to the information superhighway play in helping Americans understand race Contributors include Ellis Cose a contributing editor for Newsweek Manning Marable chairman of Columbia University's African American Research Center William Wong a columnist for the Oakland Tribune Lisa Penalzoza a University of Illinois professor and Melita Marie Garza a Chicago Tribune reporter Among the topics discussed are the quality of reporting on immigrant issues how sensationalism may be deepening the chasm of misunderstanding between the races how the coverage of America's drug wars has been marked by racism and whether politically correct language is interfering with coverage of vital issues and problems The contributors of The Media in Black and White hope to broaden the narrow vision of the United States and the world beyond with their contributions to the debate over race and the media The commentary found in this important work will be of interest to sociologists communication specialists and black studies scholars

Determined Women Jennifer Birkett, Elizabeth Harvey, 1991-04-23 The essays in this collection look at some of the images and categories which have shaped Western women's sense of themselves in the twentieth century The approach of the collection is interdisciplinary bringing together the perspectives of literary criticism social history and linguistics Its focus is international with contributions on Britain France Germany the United States and Canada The collection shows both the similarity and the diversity of women's experience in a world determined by patriarchal assumptions where women's only hope of change lies in developing a determination of their own

Race and Restoration Barclay Key, 2020-05-06 From the late nineteenth century to the dawn of the civil rights era the Churches of Christ operated outside of conventional racial customs Many of their congregations even deep in the South counted whites and blacks among their numbers As the civil rights movement began to challenge pervasive social views about race Church of Christ leaders and congregants found themselves in the midst of turmoil In Race and Restoration Churches of Christ and the Black Freedom Struggle Barclay Key focuses on how these churches managed race relations during the Jim Crow era and how they adapted to the dramatic changes of the 1960s Although most religious organizations grappled with changing attitudes toward race the Churches of Christ had singular struggles Fundamentally restorationist these exclusionary churches perceived themselves as the only authentic expression of Christianity compelling them to embrace peoples of different races even as they succumbed to prevailing racial attitudes The Churches of Christ thus offer a unique perspective for observing how Christian fellowship and human equality intersected during the civil rights era Key reveals how racial attitudes and practices within individual congregations elude the simple categorizations often employed by historians Public forums designed by churches to bridge racial divides offered insight into the minds of members while revealing the limited progress made by individual churches Although the Churches of Christ did have a more racially diverse composition than many other denominations in the Jim Crow era Key shows that their members were subject to many of the same aversions prejudices and fears of other churches of the time Ironically the tentative biracial relationships that had formed within and between congregations prior to World War II began to dissolve as leading voices of the civil rights movement prioritized desegregation

Wojo's Weapons Jonathan Hilton, Dean Ippolito, 2014-09-15 The Gr nfeld is one of the most topical openings in modern chess practice Many club players fear it and top GMs often struggle to get an advantage when facing it as White But is it really a theoretically sound defense In this third and final volume of the acclaimed Wojo's Weapons series IM Dean Ippolito and NM Jonathan Hilton claim to have found a sure route to an advantage against this opening Building on the repertoire of the late GM Aleksander Wojtkiewicz the authors reveal the fruits of a combined 35 years of Gr nfeld analysis in the first 200 pages Hilton himself a Gr nfeld player admits that Ippolito's pet variation with the surprising 10 Qc2 sets Black nearly insolvable problems in the open lines Much more than a Gr nfeld monograph however Wojo's Weapons III provides in depth coverage of other pesky openings such as the Dutch the Old Indian and the Hedgehog arming you with the knowledge needed to turn the tables on your opponent and take him out of his comfort zone No matter what openings they play chessplayers at any skill level can use Ippolito and Hilton's full game coverage in Wojo's Weapons III as a series of practical lessons in strategic chess This ambitious repertoire project for White which started with the 2009 release of the first volume of Wojo's Weapons is now complete
