Cage Eleven:

Cage Eleven Gerry Adams,1990 Den irske nationalist Gerry Adams beretter om sin internering i Long Kesh lejren i 1970erne
Cage Eleven Gerry Adams,1997 Gerry Adams a Sinn Fein activist who led sit ins marches and protests in Northern Ireland was imprisoned without benefit of a trial He suffered interrogations and torture during his four years at Long Kesh Prison most of it in cell block Cage Eleven This collection of his essays about prison life was smuggled out of Long Kesh and published by the Irish Republican underground press
Cage Eleven Gerry Adams,2024-11-10 Gerry Adams account of interment without trial in the 1970s in Long Kesh prison Written while Adams was a prisoner the pieces were originally smuggled out for publication Updated with a new introduction
Jailtacht Diarmait Mac Giolla Chríost,2012-05-15 Using research methods and techniques the author closely analyses the emergence of the Irish language amongst republican prisoners and ex prisoners in Northern Ireland from the 1970 s up until the present This pioneering study shows how the language was used exclusively in parts of the prison despite the efforts of the prison authorities to suppress the language and the dramatic impact this had on Irish society Drawing on interviews with the prisoners and various other materials Mac Giolla Chríost shows how these developments gave rise to the popular coinage of the term Jailtacht a deformation of Gaeltacht the official Irish speaking district of the Republic of Ireland to describe this unique linguistic phenomenon

Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration Doran Larson,2017-07-17 Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration works from the premise that if the law establishes and maintains both its practical and symbolic authority on the basis of its monopoly on legally sanctioned violence and the suffering threatened and delivered by such violence then we cannot know the full human cost or concrete moral status of any legal state without human witness to the depth and manner of suffering meted out by such violence The prison writer stands in the position to offer such witness The prison writer knows the law s violence in the flesh For every other writer reflection upon the degree and manner of suffering meted out under legal sanction that is reflection upon the full human cost of the contemporary legal order is necessarily speculative In close readings of first person witness from prisons in the U S Ireland and Africa Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration discovers literary tropes that chart at once local national and transnational conditions of carceral experience the extant conditions of legalized suffering In exhibiting the labor required to move from institutionalized abjection to the minimum requirements of rights bearing personhood this witness offers the sole credible vision of the possibility of a post carceral understanding of freedom
