Castles And Landscapes:

Castles and Landscapes O. H. Creighton, 2005 This paperback edition of a book first published in hardback in 2002 is a fascinating and provocative study which looks at castles in a new light using the theories and methods of landscape studies

Castles in Context Robert Liddiard, 2005 The last decade has seen a revolution in our understanding of the castle. Previously scholars have viewed it as essentially a military structure a building where the need to resist a siege determined both architecture and site. Academics now paint a more complex picture emphasizing the castle's symbolic projection of power its position in the wider landscape and even its aesthetic role. This wide ranging book makes this re-evaluation available to a new generation of castle enthusiasts. Focusing on the rich heritage of castle archaeology in England and Wales the author offers a fresh and holistic perspective on these enigmatic medieval buildings. He examines not just the architecture but its wider social and landscape context. As well as offering new insights into familiar themes such as the Norman Conquest and siege warfare he also covers in detail more original areas of study: the designed ornamental landscapes that have been found at castle sites; the depiction of castles in literature and the symbolic values that found expression in castle architecture. His aim is to understand how people experienced castles in the Middle Ages and therefore to explain why they were such potent icons of lordship.

Back cover "Landscapes of Lordship" Robert Liddiard, 2000 In this detailed study Liddiard examines the processes and factors which determined the number, distribution and location of castles and considers how a castle's construction altered its environment. Using structures such as Castle Acre, Castle Rising, Middleton and Horsford as examples Liddiard suggests that the location of most of Norfolk's castles was shaped by social factors and not military considerations. Castles were primarily intended to act as residences even though they were designed to dramatically dominate the landscape.

Castles and Landscapes Oliver Hamilton Creighton, 2002 The settlement landscape was also deeply affected by castle building as their powerful aristocratic owners fostered new towns and villages while other communities were disrupted by their construction. The types of sites chosen for castles are also examined as are the features that often accompanied them including churches, mills, monasteries, deer parks, fishponds and gardens. Throughout this book challenges many of our perceptions about medieval castles and presents some new avenues for future research.

BOOK JACKET Early European Castles Oliver H. Creighton, 2015-10-20 Early European Castles shows how our understanding of the origins and growth of medieval castles is currently being transformed and develops a framework for deepening our understanding of Europe's castral revolution in the period AD 800-1200.

Medieval East Anglia Christopher Harper-Bill, 2005 Medieval East Anglia one of the most significant and prosperous parts of England in the middle ages examined through essays on its landscape, history, religion, literature and culture. East Anglia was the most prosperous region of medieval England far from being an isolated backwater it had strong economic, religious and cultural connections with continental Europe with Norwich for a time England's second city. The essays in this volume bring out the importance of the region during the middle ages Spanning the late eleventh to the fifteenth century they offer a broad coverage of East Anglia s history and culture particular topics examined include its landscape urban history buildings government and society religion and rich culture Contributors Christopher Harper Bill Tom Williamson Robert E Liddiard P Maddern Brian Ayers Elisabeth Rutledge Penny Dunn Kate Parker Carole Rawcliffe James Campbell Lucy Marten Colin Richmond T M Colk Carole Hill T A Heslop A E Oliver Theresa Coletti Penny Granger Sarah Salih The Norman Art of War Stuart Prior,2006 A strategic approach to castles Wexford Castles Billy Colfer,2013 Billy Colfer s Wexford Castles expands the Irish Landscapes series by taking a thematic approach while still staying loyal to the central landscape focus Rather than adapting a narrowly architectural approach he situates these buildings in a superbly reconstructed historical social and cultural milieu County Wexford has three strikingly different regions the Anglo Norman south the hybridised middle and the Gaelic north which render it a remarkable version in parvo of the wider island Colfer s wide angle lens takes in so much than the castles themselves as he ranges widely and deeply in reading these striking buildings as texts revealing the cultural assumptions and historical circumstances which shaped them In this most cosmopolitan of counties we range far and wide in search of the wide spreading roots of its cultural landscape from the Crusades and the Mani peninsula in Greece to the Bristol Channel from Crac des Chevaliers to Westminster from the Viking north and the cold Atlantic to the warm Mediterranean south The book breaks new ground in exploring the long run cultural shadow cast by the Anglo Normans and their castles as this appears in the Gothic Revival in the poetry of Yeats and in the surprisingly profuse crop of Wexford historians and writers While most books on a single architectural form can end up visually monotonous creativity has been lavished on this volume in terms of keeping the images varied fresh and constantly appealing The result is a sympathetic and innovative treatment of the castles understood not just as a mere architectural form but as keys to unlocking the mentalitae of those who lived in them Wexford Castles landscape context and settlement is a worthy conclusion of Billy s Colfer s superb trilogy of landscape studies Publisher s website Castles and Others: 50 Romantic Landscapes Woodlands Art Gallery,1977 Castles and the Anglo-Norman World John A. Davies,Angela Riley,Jean-Marie Levesque,Charlotte Lapiche,2016-05-31 Castles and the Anglo Norman World is a major new synthesis drawing together a series of 20 papers by 26 French and English specialists in the field of Anglo Norman studies It includes summaries of current knowledge and new research into important Norman castles in England and Normandy drawing on information from recent excavations Sections consider the evolution of Anglo Norman castles the architecture and archaeology of Norman monuments Romanesque architecture and artifacts the Bayeux Tapestry and the presentation of historic sites to the public These studies are presented together with a consideration of the 12th century cross Channel Norman Empire which provides a broader context This work is the result of a conference held at Norwich Castle in 2012 which was part of a collaboration between professionals in the fields of archaeology architecture museums and heritage under the banner of the Norman Connections Project Munich, and the Royal Castles of Bavaria
