A Cuddle of Cats Heather Cook, 2016-11-07 I know that the correct collective noun for a gathering of cats is a clowder but cuddle seems so much more appropriate that I couldn't resist using it in the title of this book Sometimes of course a spit of cats might be more fitting or even an eruption such as occurs every now and then on the sofa of an evening and results in much spillage of El Plonko A Cuddle of Cats is a charming collection of poetry that captures cats in all their moods and peculiarities not to mention a few human quirks along the way There is Daisy the boy for example who rises above an identity crisis with enviable nonchalance Portia who manages to snatch a blissful existence from a dodgy start in life the Persian spy who dominates the Kremlin during the Cold War the veterans of the Residents Lounge and many many more Benjamin Wobble a hero of earlier volumes makes a welcome reappearance as do Tiny Trixie Tribble and Spitfire the ageing wild cat who takes everything that is on offer with a heartwarmingly gracious grumble Most of the rhymes and recollections are amusing a few touch upon the sadder consequences of loving things but the book is above all things a celebration of the special relationships we enjoy with these fascinating creatures A Cuddle of Cats is a heartwarming collection that will make the perfect addition to any animal lover's bookshelf

Animal Languages in the Middle Ages Alison Langdon, 2018-02-13 The essays in this interdisciplinary volume explore language broadly construed as part of the continued interrogation of the boundaries of human and nonhuman animals in the Middle Ages Uniting a diverse set of emerging and established scholars Animal Languages questions the assumed medieval distinction between humans and other animals The chapters point to the wealth of non human communicative and discursive forms through which animals function both as vehicles for human meaning and as agents of their own demonstrating the significance of human and non human interaction in medieval texts particularly for engaging with the Other The book ultimately considers the ramifications of deconstructing the medieval anthropocentric view of language for the broader question of human singularity
