land She has traveled extensively to other countries only to discover that no matter how white her skin she is indeed African and the only country she can call home is South Africa If you write honestly about life in South Africa apartheid damns itself she says She is ruthlessly honest and her fiction has played the vital role of communicating in detail to the rest of the world the effects of apartheid upon the daily lives of the South African people To maintain her integrity she writes as though she were dead without any thought of how anyone will react to what she has written She remains heroically undaunted both by the banning of three of her novels by the white government and by the protests of radical blacks who assert that whites cannot write convincingly about blacks She is concerned neither with the image of blacks nor with the image of whites only with revealing the complexity the full truth This truth condemns the racism upon which apartheid is built In her nine novels and eight volumes of short stories Gordimer digs deeper and deeper until she has thematic layers These include betrayal political sexual every form and power the way human beings use power in their relationships Her accounts in these interviews of how she works and of which writers she admires will fascinate readers scholars teachers and students alike Co editors Nancy Topping Bazin retired from the faculty of the English and women s studies departments at Old Dominion University and Marilyn Dallman Seymour retired from the staff of the Government Publications Department of the Old Dominion University Library Interviews and Conversations with 20th-century Authors Writing in English: 1980-1985 and 1900-1980 addenda Stan A.
