Body In Swift And Defoe:

The Body in Swift and Defoe Carol Houlihan Flynn, 1990 This extended study of the treatment of the physical material nature of the human body in the works of Jonathan Swift and Daniel Defoe examines the role that literary invention with its rhetorical and linguistic strategies plays in expressing and exploring the problems of physicality The book takes up a wide range of issues relating to the body such as sexuality cannibalism scatology and the fear of contagion In an eclectic synthesis of recent critical approaches Professor Flynn draws insight from biographical and psychoanalytic criticism as well as social history Application of feminist theory offers an original and challenging discussion of renditions of female sexuality in both Defoe and Swift Publisher description

Letters and the Body, 1700-1830 Sarah Goldsmith, Sheryllynne Haggerty, Karen Harvey, 2023-07-04 This collection explores the multifaceted relationship between letters and bodies in the long eighteenth century featuring a broad selection of women's and men's letters written from and to Britain North America Europe India and the Caribbean from the labouring poor to the landed elite In eleven chapters scholars from various disciplines draw on different methodological approaches that include close readings of single letters social historical analyses of large corpora and a material culture approach to the object of the letter This research includes personal letters exchanged among family and friends formal correspondence and letters that were incorporated into published forewords and appendices journals and memoirs Part I explores the letter as a substitute for the absent body the imagined physical encounters and performances envisaged by letter writers and the means through which these imagined sensations were conveyed Part II examines the letter as a material object that served as a conduit for descriptions of the material body and as an instrument for embodied encounters Part III focuses on how correspondents purposefully used their bodies in letters as a means to create intimacy to generate social networks and build a body politic This interdisciplinary volume centred around letters will be of interest to scholars and students in a variety of fields including eighteenth century studies cultural history and literature

Falling into Matter Elizabeth R. Napier, 2012-03-08 Falling into Matter examines the complex role of the body in the development of the English novel in the eighteenth century Elizabeth R Napier argues that despite an increasing emphasis on the need to present ideas in corporeal terms early fiction writers continued to register spiritual and moral reservations about the centrality of the body to human and imaginative experience Drawing on six works of early English fiction Daniel Defoe's Robinson Crusoe Jonathan Swift's Gulliver's Travels Samuel Richardson's Clarissa Henry Fielding's Tom Jones Elizabeth Inchbald's A Simple Story and Mary Shelley's Frankenstein Napier examines how authors grappled with technical and philosophical issues of the body questioning its capacity for moral action its relationship to individual freedom and dignity and its role in the creation of art Falling into Matter charts the course of the early novel as its authors engaged formally stylistically and thematically with the increasingly insistent role of the body in the new genre

Voices of the Self in Daniel Defoe's Fiction Zaixin Zhang, 1993 The alternative Marxist approach to literary criticism in the present study consists of three vocal modes of interpretation the public voice the private voice and the homeless voice of the self The public voice represents the authorial vision shaped by dominant ideology that covers up the objective real while the private voice corresponds to the authorial conscious or unconscious insertion into radical ideology that turns the objective real into the ideological real However the homeless voice of the self may obliterate any ties with history and ideology A representation of the Marxist particular interest of the self the homeless voice echoes in the open space of the text and reaches for the distant real shaped by the reader's interpretive paradigms inside or outside the constraints of the institutional discourse The alternative Marxist approach values both history and theory in literary criticism as the interplay between the two may reinforce and supplement each other in their shared interpretive territory of the private voice of the self in the text although the public voice is more oriented towards history and the homeless voice towards theory The different voices of the self are exemplified in a critical reading of Daniel Defoe's Robinson Crusoe Captain Singleton Moll Flanders and Roxana Such a study profits from both modern critical theory reader response postmodernism and feminist theory etc and historical insights into Defoe's fiction religious hermeneutics theology and medicine and gender issues in the eighteenth century etc

The Eighteenth Century, 1992      Mind, Body, Motion, Matter Mary

Helen McMurran, Alison Conway, 2016-01-01 Mind Body Motion Matter investigates the relationship between the eighteenth century's two predominant approaches to the natural world: mechanistic materialism and vitalism in the works of leading British and French writers such as Daniel Defoe, William Hogarth, Laurence Sterne, the third Earl of Shaftesbury, and Denis Diderot. Focusing on embodied experience and the materialization of thought in poetry, novels, art, and religion, the literary scholars in this collection offer new and intriguing readings of these canonical authors. Informed by contemporary currents such as new materialism, cognitive studies, media theory, and post-secularism, their essays demonstrate the volatility of the core ideas opened up by materialism and the possibilities of an aesthetic vitalism of form. 1650-1850, 1994

Misogynism in Literature Britta Zangen, 2004. Thirteen scholars from ten different national backgrounds offer their diverse commentaries on misogyny in literature. The diversity is intentional as it shows how much misogyny has been able to permeate centuries and literatures, but it also shows that those trying to resist it are just as cosmopolitan. The collection discloses the negative sameness of different peoples and cultures in their misogyny, found in such celebrated authors as Boccaccio, Byron, Chaucer, Gallegos, Gide, D. H. Lawrence, Melville, Mangan, Pushkin, Salih, Shakespeare, and Swift.

Johnsonian News Letter James Lowry Clifford, 1988. The Longman Anthology of World Literature David Damrosch, David Lawrence Pike, 2008. The Longman Anthology of World Literature Compact Edition presents a fresh and diverse range of the world's great literature in a single volume that links past and present, East and West, and literary and cultural contexts. Featuring major works by literary masters from the ancient world through the twentieth century, this concise anthology combines comprehensive coverage of key works of the Western literary tradition and the best core enduring works of the literatures of China, Japan, India, the Middle East, Africa, and native Americas. The anthology includes epic and lyric poetry, drama, and prose narrative, with many complete works and a focus on the most influential pieces and authors from each region and time period. The texts are supplemented by contextual materials that help students understand the literary and historical eras from which these texts arose. Engaging introductions, scholarly annotations, maps, pronunciation guides, and illustrations developed by a distinguished editorial team provide a wealth of teachable materials that support and illuminate the selections. The Cumulative Book Index, 1990.
