A. M. A. Courtney,2017-05-02 Few Cornish people are probably aware how wide spread still with us is the belief in charms and charmers ghosts and all other superstitions nor that there are witches in our county shunned and dreaded by some who fear their supposed power to ill wish those who offend them and sought out by others who want by their aid to avert the evil eye or by their incantations to remove the spells already cast on them and their cattle by an ill wisher who has overlooked them Folklore is an almost inexhaustible subject There must be many charms in use here that have not come under my notice a few are too coarse to record as are some of the tales Cornish Feasts and Feasten Times (Folklore History Series)

M.A. Courtney,2010-07 Cornwall has always been a county largely given to hospitality they have met from time immemorial made it a practice to meet at each others houses to celebrate their feasts and saints days Many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900 s and before are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive We are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern editions using the original text and artwork "The" Folk-lore Journal ,1887 A Feast of Folklore Ben Gazur,2024-09-26 Diverting delightful and deliciously weird enough to satisfy the most demanding appetite Christopher Hadley author of The Road Folklorist Ben Gazur guides you through the dark alleys of British history to uncover how our food habits have been passed down through generations of folklore Who was the first person to throw salt over their shoulder Why do we think carrots can help us see in the dark When did we start holding village fairs to honour gigantic apple pies Or start hurling ourselves down hills in pursuit of a wheel of cheese Gazur investigates the origins of famous food superstitions as well as much more bizarre and lesser known tales too from what day the devil urinates on blackberries to how to stop witches using eggshells as escape boats Hilarious and fascinating A Feast of Folklore will introduce you to the gloriously eccentric folk who aren t often noticed by historians Here lies a smorgasbord of their dark remedies and deadly delicacies waiting to be discovered The Folk-lore Journal Folklore Society (Great Britain),1886 Ulster Folklore Elizabeth F.R.A.I.
