(Boston), 2000 Iconoclasm and the Museum Stacy Boldrick, 2020-09-24 Iconoclasm and the Museum addresses the museum's historic tendency to be silent about destruction through an exploration of institutional attitudes to iconoclasm or image breaking and the concept's place in public display Presenting a selection of focused case studies Boldrick examines long standing desires to deface dismantle obscure or destroy works of art and historic artefacts as well as motivations to protect and display broken objects Considering the effects of iconoclastic practices on artworks and cultural artefacts and how those practices are addressed in institutions the book examines changing attitudes to the intentional destruction of powerful artworks in the past and present It ends with an analysis of creative destruction in contemporary art making and proposes that we are entering a new phase for museums in which they acknowledge the critical roles destruction and loss play in the lives of objects and in contemporary political life Iconoclasm and the Museum will be important reading for academics and students in fields such as museum and gallery studies archaeology art history arts management curatorial studies cultural studies history heritage and religious studies The book should also be of great interest to museum professionals curators and collections management specialists and artists Art and the Home Imogen Racz, 2015-01-26

Our homes contain us but they are also within us They can represent places to be ourselves to recollect childhood memories or to withdraw into adult spaces of intimacy they can be sites for developing rituals family relationships and acting out cultural expectations Like the personal social and cultural elements out of which they are constructed homes can be not only comforting but threatening too The home is a rich theme running through post war western art and it continues to engage contemporary artists today yet it has been the subject of relatively little critical writing Art and the Home Comfort Alienation and the Everyday is the first single authored up to date book on the subject Imogen Racz provides a theme led discussion about how the physical experience of the dwelling space and the psychological complexities of the domestic are manifested in art focusing mainly on sculpture installation and object based practice discussing the work and ideas of artists as diverse as Louise Bourgeois Gordon Matta Clark George Segal and Cornelia Parker within their artistic and cultural contexts

Sculpsit Kerstin Mey, 2001 Cornelia Parker Michael Sandle Mark Wallinger Georg Baselitz Tracey Emin Kiki Smith Ping Qiu Azade Koker Kuc Wolff Stelarc Cornelia Parker Cornelia Parker, Institute of Contemporary Art (Boston, Mass.), Arts Club of Chicago, 2000 Art and Destruction Jennifer Walden, 2014-01-14 Most talk of and writing on art is about its relationship to creation and creativity This of course takes various forms but ultimately the creative act in the making of art works is a key issue What happens when we put together art and destruction This has been referenced in some major areas such as that of art and iconoclasm and auto destructive art movements Less evident are accounts of more intimate smaller scale destructive interventions into the world of the made or exhibited art object or more singular and particularised approaches to the representation of mass destruction This volume addresses these lacunae by bringing together some distinct and very different areas for enquiry which nevertheless share a theme of destruction and share an emphasis upon the history of twentieth and twenty first century art making Scholars and makers have come together to produce accounts of artists whose making is driven by the breaking of or breaking down of matter and medium as part of the creative materialisation of the idea such as Richard Wentworth Bouke de Vries Cornelia Parker to name some of those artists represented here and indeed in one case how our very attempts to write about such practices are challenged by this making process Other perspectives have engaged in critical study of various destructive interventions in galleries Some of these whether as actual staged actions in real time or filmic representations of precarious objects are understood as artistic acts in and of themselves At the same time an account included in this volume of certain contemporary iconoclasts defacing or otherwise effecting destructive attempts upon canonised exhibited artworks reflects upon these destructive interventionists as self styled artists claiming to add to the significance of works via acts of destruction Yet other chapters provide a fresh outlook upon distinctive and unusual approaches to the representation of destruction in terms of the larger scale and landscape of artistic responses to mass destruction in times of war This book will be of interest to readers keen to encounter the range of nuance complexity and ambiguity applicable to the bringing together of art and destruction Cornelia Parker Cornelia Parker, Iwona Blazwick, Ewa Lajer-Burcharth, 2001 Through her sculptures and installations British artist Cornelia Parker explores the metaphysical dimensions of objects with both a serious eye toward probing issues of intellectual perplexity and also humorously suggesting approaches to phenomena such as gravity and ideas about the meaning of objects By representing things in a state of transition from solid to volatile from unit to fragment from static to movement she shows how every inanimate object has its own existence a past present and potential that goes beyond its physical appearance at any given moment This book features new never before published work that has recently been exhibited in Torino Italy

Waste William Viney, 2014-05-22 Why are people so interested in what they and others throw away This book shows how this interest in what we discard is far from new it is integral to how we make build and describe our lived environment As this wide ranging new study reveals waste has been a polarizing topic for millennia and has been treated as a rich resource by artists writers philosophers and architects Drawing on the works of Giorgio Agamben T S Eliot Jacques Derrida Martin Heidegger James Joyce Bruno Latour and many others Waste A Philosophy of Things investigates the complexities of waste in sculpture literature and architecture It traces a new philosophy of things from the ancient to the modern and will be of interest to those working in cultural and literary studies archaeology architecture and continental philosophy Frankfort Directory for the Year 1883, 1883 Social Register, New York, 1915 Includes Dilatory domiciles The Roof Garden Commission: Cornelia Parker Beatrice Galilee, Sheena Wagstaff, 2016-04-18 The British artist Cornelia Parker is known for her large site specific installations Often composed of ordinary objects her works makes the familiar extraordinary whimsical and even poignant Her new project Transitional Object PsychoBarn conceived and created for The Metropolitan Museum of Art merges two iconic examples of American architecture the red barn and the infamous mansion on a hill from Alfred Hitchcock s masterpiece Psycho itself inspired by the paintings of Edward Hopper The work meditates on the tension between these iconic structures and subtly suggests how architecture generates conflicting emotional states This beautifully illustrated book is the fourth in a series that documents and contextualizes The Met s annual rooftop commissions The introductory essay by Beatrice Galilee follows the process of crafting this work tracing the myriad psychological associations that are embedded in architectural spaces The interview between the artist and Sheena Wagstaff provides an insightful discussion of Parker s wide ranging career and explores the conceptual framework that informs her remarkable commission
