Defending Switzerland:

Elusive Security Laura Neack, 2007 This clear and concise text offers a comprehensive comparison of national international and human security concepts and policies Laura Neack argues that security remains elusive because of a centuries old ethic insisting that states are the primary and most important international actors can rely ultimately only on themselves for protection and must keep all options on the table for national security The author compellingly demonstrates how a state first security ethic ultimately fails to secure states the international community and most important human beings Although security as a concept can be widened to include almost any aspect of existence Neack focuses especially on security from physical violence beginning with efforts by states to defend themselves against violent attack She explores such topics as the internal and external dimensions of security terrorism and defending the homeland threat perception and responses preemptive and preventive wars and other military interventions Next Neack examines efforts over the past century to protect states through the construction of the United Nations international security system and how collective security peacekeeping and peace enforcement have been used in that system Throughout Neack shows that human security has only mattered in terms of servicing the state s security needs a critique she takes up directly in the final chapters A range of short and extended case studies are offered to illustrate the conceptual materials and policy debates over security In this state first world we only can choose between degrees of insecurity true security remains elusive

The Economics of the Global Defence Industry Keith Hartley, Jean Belin, 2019-11-08 This book makes an original contribution to our knowledge of the world s major defence industries Experts from a wide range of different countries from the major economies of North America and Western Europe to developing economies and some unique cases such as China India Singapore South Africa and North Korea describe and analyse the structure conduct and performance of the defence industry in that country Each chapter opens with statistics on a key nation s defence spending its spending on defence R D and on procurement over the period 1980 to 2017 allowing for an analysis of industry changes following the end of the Cold War After the facts of each industry the authors describe and analyse the structure conduct and performance of the industry The analysis of structure includes discussions of entry conditions domestic monopoly oligopoly structures and opportunities for competition The section on conduct analyses price non price competition including private and state funded R D and performance incorporates profitability imports and exports together with spin offs and technical progress The conclusion explores the future prospects for each nation s defence industry Do defence industries have a future What might the future defence firm and industry look like in 50 years time This volume is a vital resource and reference for anyone interested in defence economics industrial economics international relations strategic studies and public procurement
